FEAR DEATH OF KIDNAP VICTIM

THE RELIEF JOB: MAKING EARNER OUT OF PAUPER

Many Difficulties Stand in Way.

THE RELIEF TANGLE.

In view of the relief crisis, which brought about the appointment of a commission of civic leaders to seek a solution to its problems, The Tribune sent an investigator to trace relief facts to their roots. This and succeeding articles, based on his month's study, tell for the first time what the outlook is for various phases of relief, what relief gives its recipients, and what types of people are on relief.

BY WILLIAM O'NEIL.

There are now approximately 220,000 paupers on the rolls of the Chicago Relief administration. The exact number at the end of August was 217,660, and the rolls are increasing every day.

Leo M. Lyons.

Under the Illinois emergency relief commission, which administered relief in Chicago for the four years prior to last summer, those on the public relief rolls were receiving unemployment relief which was not considered pauper relief, according to Leo M. Lyons, commissioner of the CRA [Chicago Relief administration]. "Today the CRA operates under a pauper law and every person on the CRA rolls is technically a pauper," Lyons declared.

Seek to Reverse Function.

The present purpose of the CRA is to give aid to the poor. Mr. Lyons said that he is trying, with the aid of a special emergency committee of fifty public and private leaders, to reverse this function into one of getting the employable paupers off of the public relief rolls and onto private industrial pay rolls.

The 217,660 persons on the CRA rolls were grouped into 84,101 cases at the end of August. A case is any unit receiving relief as a unit—single person, family group, or nonfamily group.

50% Found Unemployable.

The CRA conducted a survey last spring in which it found that more than 50 per cent of the cases on its rolls contained no employable person, because the members of the cases were physically unfit to work, too old to work, or for some similar reason. Mr. Lyons said that he does not agree with the results of this survey, but, for want of better information, it has been assumed that 42,000 of the CRA cases have at least one employable person.

How many of these cases remain a drain on the public purse because no member of the case unit wants to work?

Social service workers of the CRA say the number is small. They refuse to set any figure on the number. You can't, they declare, call a man a bum until he refuses a job in private industry that would provide him with economic security, and very few such jobs are being offered to relief clients.

Many May Not Seek Work.

Under present conditions, however, it is possible that any number up to 32,000 of the employable cases are not even registered with the Illinois State Employment service as seeking work. And, because many of the 32,000 cases contain more than one employable person, it is possible that there are even more persons than this who aren't seeking work who would thus take themselves and their families off the relief rolls.

Under the rules of the CRA, every employable person who applies for relief—and that includes all of the employables in each case—must register with the ISES [Illinois State Employment service] before relief is granted. But, although the CRA forces the employables to register as seeking work, there is nothing in all but 10,000 of the cases to make sure that the reliefers remain on the active lists of the ISES.

Free Employment Service.

The ISES is a free employment service, open to all unemployed persons in the state. Private employment agencies make expenses and profits by charging a fee for any job obtained for an applicant. The ISES

CHINESE BREAK JAPAN'S LINES ON SHANGHAI FRONT

Invaders Rush Up More Troops.

Russia Warns Japan

MOSCOW, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Soviet Russia announced tonight that Japan had been warned she would be held entirely responsible for any bombing—either accidental or intentional—of the soviet embassy in Nanking.

The warning was issued despite Japan's report of a Chinese plot to draw Russia into the Chinese-Japanese conflict by raiding the embassy in planes repainted to resemble Japanese aircraft.

Russian authorities said they considered the report a "pure provocation showing the intention of some Japanese military leaders to bombard the soviet embassy intentionally and then try to escape responsibility."

BULLETIN.

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

HONGKONG, Sept. 27 (Monday).—Canton again is experiencing a severe air raid. This morning at least six bombers appeared and heavily bombed various objectives. Fires have broken out in a number of places.

(Picture on back page.)

SHANGHAI, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Japanese rushed men and munitions into their Shanghai lines tonight to meet a Chinese counterattack and start a Japanese offensive designed to crush all Chinese resistance in this area.

Rear Admiral Tadao Honda, Japanese naval attaché, warned that Japanese bombardment of Chinese noncombatants "will be duly carried out" regardless of loss of life, if it becomes necessary "by virtue of their residence near military objectives."

Japanese army officers announced flatly that they plan a major drive along the whole Shanghai front, and added that when the push gets under way "it will be like a flood breaking down the dikes."

New Commander Named.

Gen. Chu Shao-liang, first in rank among military subordinates of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, dictator of China, took over command of Shanghai armies, relieving Gen. Chang Chih-chung. No reason was given for the change.

In counterattacks the Chinese claimed they broke through the invaders' lines along the front northwest of Shanghai, recaptured two villages and continued to advance. Japanese answered the attack with a heavy artillery and aerial bombardment of Chapei, native quarter north of the international settlement.

Meanwhile, stormy weather gave Nanking, China's capital, a respite from Japanese air bombardment. The Chinese Red Cross planned a representation to the international Red Cross protesting yesterday's bombardment which endangered the Central hospital, a huge government institution.

Business men estimated the damage from five bombings at $1,500,000.

Exact Death Count Difficult.

The death toll of the air raids was estimated at between 200 and 500, but an exact count was difficult because huge mountains of débris still had not been cleared away. Workers constructed new bombproof dugouts and strengthened old ones that officials credited with saving thousands of Chinese lives.

Chinese authorities disclosed that 37,000 wounded Chinese have been brought to Nanking hospitals from the Shanghai front, creating a grave problem in the bomb-scarred capital. The terrific toll of the conflict has "strained the hospitals beyond the breaking point," medical officials said.

The government accused the Japanese air corps of "treacherously and unlawfully disguising their planes with Chinese insignia." The charge followed a Japanese air raid on Kwangteh, seventy miles northwest of Hangchow, seaport a hundred miles below Shanghai. The attacking aircraft were reported to have been disguised as Chinese planes.

Four railway stations southwest of Hangchow underwent a severe bombardment, Japanese officials announced. They said that tracks and railway equipment used to transport

Robbers Shoot Watchman in Tavern Battle

A uniformed private watchman was shot five times and seriously wounded early today in a desperate gun battle at close range with three burglars in the Mart tavern at 333 North Wells street. He is William Youtz, 35 years old, 760 Milwaukee avenue.

Youtz was making his midnight rounds when he noticed that the front door of the tavern was open. He stepped inside, but progressed only a few feet when one of the thieves called out, "Jiggers, a cop!"

Returns Robbers' Fire.

With that two, or perhaps all three, of the men fired at the watchman. He drew his revolver and returned the fire, aiming in the direction of the flashes from the burglars' guns. Even as Youtz fired, the gunmen's bullets struck him. Five took effect before he collapsed.

Meantime, Youtz had sent four bullets at the burglars. Blood stains indicated one had been wounded. The three escaped, however, forcing their way through a rear door.

Reaches Nearby Tavern.

Watchman Youtz staggered to the nearest haven, Allegretti's tavern, at 357 North Wells street. The manager there called Chicago avenue police, who took Youtz to Henrotin hospital. He told his story there to Policeman Barney Lutz.

Police said that the burglars obviously mistook Youtz for a policeman because of his watchman's uniform. Youtz was wounded in the side, hip, and body, the most critical wound being just below the heart.

SHERIF FORGETS GUESTS IN JAIL, BUT THEY DON'T

Chadron, Neb., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Sherif William Moody was the county's most eligible candidate for a memory course today.

Two men came from Alliance to visit their brother, in jail on federal charges. Sherif Moody admitted them to the cell.

Then the sherif left for Crawford to attend a meeting, forgetting about the visitors, who began to fidget as time passed.

At Crawford Sherif Moody remembered his two extra "guests" and telephoned his wife to free them.

Child Bride Now 10; She Boasts of 15 Pound Gain

Sneedville, Tenn., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Eunice Winstead Johns, Tennessee's celebrated child bride of eight months ago, celebrated her tenth birthday today and boasted she has gained 15 pounds in the last year, and weighs nearly 100 pounds now.

GRADE SCHOOLS OPEN TODAY FOR 380,000 AS PARALYSIS WANES

The three weeks' ban on the opening of Chicago elementary schools to prevent the spread of infantile paralysis was lifted last night, permitting 380,000 public and parochial school children to return to their classes this morning.

Approximately 63,000 kindergarten and first grade pupils will not return to school for the present, however, according to a joint announcement by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health; Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of public schools, and Catholic and Lutheran school leaders.

"For the last forty-two hours six verified cases of infantile paralysis have been reported," said Dr. Bundesen. "This is the lowest number of any Saturday and Sunday in the last four weeks. There were eighteen last week-end."

Motion picture theater owners were informed that children 7 years old and younger should be refused admittance, but that older children now may be admitted.

ROUNDUP GOES MODERN; THEY'RE PURE BREDS NOW

New Meadows, Idaho, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Western America's biggest cattle roundup of the century ended tonight on the Circle ranch in this valley. In 103 stock cars 2,600 purebred Herefords—2½ million pounds of beef, valued on the hoof at $300,000—rolled Denverward to be fattened and turned into steaks and roasts.

"The shipment is the largest from one shipper to one consignee in the seventy years' history of our railroads," said C. R. Likins, New Meadows freight agent. "And the roundup is the biggest in the west in nearly forty years."

Three sons of a pioneer cattle raiser—Albert, Rollie, and Loyal Campbell—directed the day long loading. Mrs. Caroline Campbell, widow of Charles Campbell, founder of the Circle C, was an interested spectator.

AIMEE FLOORED BY 'MIKE,' BUT FINISHES JOB

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson took a fall from a microphone after she had sent what was described as a "hot" sermon over the ether tonight.

Giles Knight, business manager of Angelus temple, said she had just finished preaching and caught the microphone in her perspiring hands to sing. A jolt of electricity from the "mike" floored her.

She was at once on her feet again, and proceeded with the services.

Rush Maguire Girl to Hospital for Operation

Patricia Maguire, the Oak Park sleeping sickness victim who has lain in a coma five years, was moved from her home to the Presbyterian hospital yesterday to undergo an operation for an abdominal tumor. Her condition was described as critical.

Patricia Maguire.

Dr. Eugene Traut, the family physician, said the operation will be performed today or tomorrow by Dr. N. Sproat Heaney after the young woman has had a blood transfusion.

Miss Maguire's stepfather, Peter Miley, qualified yesterday as a donor and his blood will be used first, Dr. Traut said. Patricia's sister, Mrs. Gladys Hansen, also will give blood if hers is found to be the proper type.

Police Offer Blood.

When it became known that Miss Maguire needed blood Police Chief Soderlin of River Forest called the Miley home at 523 Clarence avenue, and announced that every man on his force had volunteered to be a donor.

Oak Park police also volunteered to Chief Benjamin Barsema, and members of the forces of both suburbs went to the hospital to be examined.

Saddest of the young woman's family was her mother, Mrs. Sadie Miley, who for the five years has been almost constantly at her bedside. She was told by Dr. Traut that Patricia may not rally from the operation.

Loses 50 Pounds in 6 Weeks.

Patricia, who is 32 years old, was stricken by the illness on Feb. 14, 1932, on returning to her home from work. In the last six weeks she has lost almost 50 pounds because of the tumor.

Furs and Socks Taken from Commissioner Ryan's Home

Burglars broke into the home of County Commissioner Daniel Ryan, 426 Normal parkway, yesterday afternoon and carried away property valued at about $1,000. In the loot were a fox fur piece, a sable coat, a camera, a gold wrist watch, and a platinum wedding ring. Mr. Ryan also said that six pairs of socks which had been given him as a Christmas present were taken.

Plan Offered for 5 Chicago 'L' Highways

BY HAL FOUST.

(Map on back page.)

A plan to build five elevated highways radiating from Chicago's central business district was offered yesterday by the Chicago Motor club. The traficways would save many of the lives now sacrificed to the automobile massacre, the club pointed out, and would result annually in a time saving worth millions of dollars to motorists.

The projected plan calls for 38.1 miles of highways, estimated to cost an average of $1,000,000 a mile, including the cost for property damages and for right of way acquisitions.

Taxes Would Finance Work.

"The proposal," said Charles M. Hayes, president of the club, "is for consideration of federal, state, county, and city officials, who must adopt some such plan in the near future to abate an annual accident toll of about 800 dead and 20,000 injured in Chicago. The public no longer can tolerate such a loss of life and limb due to the inadequacy of surface pavements for express motor transportation.

"The construction, which would require from three to five years, could be financed from the revenue of existing taxes upon motorists.

Taxes $2 Million Yearly.

"Chicago automobile trafic pays approximately $32,500,000 in taxes a year, consisting of $7,500,000 for state plates, $15,000,000 on the state's 3 cent gasoline excise, $5,000,000 for city windshield stickers, and $5,000,000 for the federal 1 cent gas tax.

"From these figures it is apparent that $10,000,000 a year could be spent for elevated highway construction without any serious impairment of surface street repairs and replacements. There also would be sufficient money for a major improvement to Chicago's gateway to the southeast, omitted from the club's present recommendations because other agencies are working on this problem."

Five Routes Planned.

The motor club's plan calls for one elevated highway to the southwest, two to the west, one to the northwest, and one to the north from the central business district. Around the central business district would be an elevated highway belt line. Further development of the outer drives is considered adequate provision for lake front trafic both north and south. The map on the back page of this issue of THE TRIBUNE shows specific routes.

The general layout is similar to plans advanced by several competent agencies during the last ten years. The routes follow the directions of heaviest intercity travel and they connect with present and projected main highways to other cities.

"If the saving of lives is not reason enough by itself for building the elevated highways," said Mr. Hayes, "the expenditure of $1,000,000 a mile can be justified on a purely economic basis. The cost of delays on surface streets is greater than the cost of construction to eliminate the delays."

ANXIOUS WIFE KEEPS VIGIL FOR RANSOM NOTE

Witness Tells Ross Abduction.

Investigators were fearful last night that Charles S. Ross, 72 years old, wealthy retired greeting card manufacturer, might have met death since he was kidnaped Saturday evening in Wolf road southwest of Franklin Park.

Among the reasons for the fear were: [1] Ross had a heart ailment and high blood pressure, indicating the possibility that a sudden shock might prove fatal, and [2] no demand for ransom had been made up to midnight by his captors.

Faced with this situation and urged on by Mrs. Ross, who kept constant vigil in her apartment at 2912 Commonwealth avenue, the investigators, led by Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the state's attorney's police, threw all their resources into the search for the abductors.

Blamed on Young Hoodlums.

Lacking any tangible clew to the identity of the men who seized him, the police could only theorize that the kidnaping was the work of young hoodlums. Capt. Gilbert said that kidnap gangs with strong underworld connections had all been wiped out long ago and that, moreover, the crime was committed in such manner that he was sure it was not plotted as anything more than a robbery.

There were rumors last night that the state's attorney's detectives were seeking members of the gang headed by the three Shelton brothers of East St. Louis, who were notorious in prohibition times. Capt. Gilbert denied this, however. At East St. Louis it was said Carl and Bernie Shelton had abjured crime and were leading exemplary lives, while Earl Shelton, who was released from the Atlanta federal penitentiary 18 months ago, had never returned to his old haunts.

All the information about the crime came from Miss Florence Freihage, 44 years old, 1335 Nelson street, who was with the white haired Ross when he was seized. Miss Freihage is secretary of the George S. Carrington company, printers of valentines and greeting cards, of which Ross was president until two years ago.

Drives to Sycamore.

Ross, said Miss Freihage, invited her to meet him late Saturday afternoon near the offices of the concern at 2732 Fullerton avenue, that he might hear how matters were progressing. He had sold his interest to Artemus D. Watson Jr., present head of the Carrington company, but had not received all the purchase price.

"We left Chicago about 5 p. m.," Miss Freihage continued, "and drove to Sycamore, where we had dinner in the Fargo hotel. We started back about 8 o'clock. I remember that a car pulled out of the parking space as we left, but I am not sure it followed us for any great distance.

Threatened by Youth.

"We drove in along North avenue. At Wolf road Mr. Ross turned north. We had gone hardly half a mile and were opposite the entrance to the Westward Ho Golf club when he remarked that the car behind him was shining its light onto his mirror. 'It's been following us for some time,' he said, 'and I think I'll draw over to the side and let it by.'

"When he slowed down the other car drew up beside us, cut in a little ahead of us, and stopped. One man jumped out. He was young and seemed [the light wasn't good] to have light, curly hair. He thrust a pistol at Mr. Ross and yelled that he'd shoot unless the door was opened.

Offers Her Purse.

"Mr. Ross obeyed and at his command got out of the car. I think there were two other men in the car that stopped us, but I only saw the one at the wheel. The one with the pistol said 'This is a kidnaping; my boss told me to bring you along.'

"I offered my purse to the man, begging him not to harm Mr. Ross. He told me to be quiet, and took Mr. Ross over to the other car. Then he returned and took $85 out of my purse. 'He says you're his secretary; is he good for a half million or a quarter million?' I assured him Mr. Ross had no such wealth.

"The man paid no attention to that. 'You get down on the floor of the car,' he said. 'If you get up I'll shoot you.'"

The gunman, however, did not take the ignition keys of the Ross car, and Miss Freihage a little later drove north to Grand avenue. At a filling station she called the Franklin Park police and told of the crime. They in turn notified the state's attorney's office and the state and county highway police stations.

The kidnapers, according to Miss Freihage's story, also had driven north. It was her belief that a second car belonging to the party trailed her to Grand avenue. She believed, she added, that the kidnapers' car was a Ford, but could not be sure of this.

Hope in Vain for Clew.

Throughout the day the investigators were hopeful that some more adequate clew would be divulged in a ransom note or message. When this failed to materialize they eliminated, apparently, any motive other than robbery or ransom as a motive.

They learned that Ross was a former druggist, that he had made a sizable fortune in real estate and building materials before purchasing an interest in the Carrington company in 1916. Friends said he had no known enemies. He is a member of the Edgewater Golf club and the Chicago Athletic association and is highly regarded in both organizations.

Australian Trip Planned.

Ross and his wife had planned a trip to Australia next winter. Neighbors said they were devoted to each other. Mrs. Ross herself expressed confidence that her husband would get along with the kidnapers and might even be playing bridge with them in a little while unless his heart had suffered from the shock of Saturday night's events.

Last night she locked herself alone in her well-furnished apartment, refusing the company of the police, to await any message that might come from the abductors. Before doing so, she told interviewers that it was "ridiculous" for any one to assume that her husband was worth as much as a quarter of a million dollars.

A Trusted Family Friend.

Capt. Gilbert announced that he was entirely satisfied with Miss Freihage's story. She spent most of the day at the state's attorney's office. Mrs. Ross said Miss Freihage was an old family friend and was trusted with her husband's business affairs.

Attorney Edmund Cumming, Jr., legal representative of the kidnaped man, asserted that he was "comfortably fixed," but did not possess large wealth. This fact, coupled with Ross' quiet mode of life, strengthened the belief of the police that he was abducted on the spur of the moment by men who had only intended to rob when they halted him. Nothing in the words of the man who thrust a pistol at him, it was pointed out, indicated that the gang knew his identity.

PLAN OFFERED FOR 5 CHICAGO SUPERHIGHWAYS

bile usage because of the improvement of facilities, it is estimated that there would be 441,045,000 car miles of travel annually on the 38.1 miles of elevated highway in the motor club program. This same mileage on surface streets in Chicago takes a toll of 49 fatalities, 1,070 personal injuries, and 3,420 damaged automobiles.

Based on New York's experience with elevated highways, it is found that this volume of travel on the modern structures would involve no deaths, 92 personal injuries, and 205 property damage accidents. This would mean a saving of 49 lives, 978 personal injuries, and 3,215 damaged automobiles per year.

In every mile of driving the elevated highway the vehicle and its occupants would be saved 1.5 minutes as compared with average Chicago surface street speeds. The operation of toll bridges offers a practical demonstration that car owners value time and are willing to pay to conserve it. At a rate of 1.25 cents per vehicle minute, the time saving of the $38,100,000 for elevated highways can be evaluated at $8,269, 590 a year, or sufficient to pay for the structures in less than five years of service.

BRITISH HEAD OF GALILEE KILLED BY TERRORISTS

JERUSALEM, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Lewis Andrews, British commissioner of Galilee, was shot and killed today by a band of terrorists that waited in ambush outside a Nazareth church until the official emerged from Sunday services. The commissioner's bodyguard, Constable Peter McEwan, also was killed.

Witnesses said that three assailants, two clad in European clothing and one in peasant dress, fired the shots. Authorities of Palestine, torn by Arabian-Jewish strife, closed all roads leading from Nazareth and set police dogs on the trail of the terrorists.

Andrews had gained the enmity of extremists because of the strictness of his rule as district commissioner and his life had been threatened frequently.

RELIEF PROBLEM: MAKING EARNERS OUT OF PAUPERS

Many Difficulties Stand in the Way.

is operated on a budget of $820,000 this year, supplied by the state and federal governments, and does not charge fees for jobs.

Here is an example of how the ISES works with the CRA:

John Jones applies for relief for himself and his family. He is told by the CRA that he, his daughter, and his son must register with the ISES before relief is granted to the Jones family.

The three Joneses go to the nearest ISES office—there are eight of them in Chicago—and make out applications for jobs, stating the kind of work they can do.

Whether the Joneses are on or off relief makes no difference in the state agency office. In the first instance, the Jones cards, classified according to kind of employment, go into the files of those seeking jobs. The agency lists more than 100,000 job seekers, estimated to be half relief applicants and half unemployed applicants who are not on relief.

If an applicant in the ISES files does not appear again in the office within 60 days, the agency sends him or her a card asking if the applicant is still seeking work. If no reply, or a negative reply, is received, the applicant's card is placed in the inactive file.

How Cards Are Withdrawn.

John Jones and his children get the cards along with everybody else. If John and his children do not tell the ISES that they are still seeking work their cards are withdrawn from the active file.

If that happens, there is no way of notifying any member of the Jones family that there is a job open. If they don't want to work they don't even have to run the slim chance that the ISES might have a job open for them.

If Jones is offered a job by the ISES and he refuses the job, the agency immediately notifies CRA, which tells Jones he won't get any more relief. But when the Jones cards are taken out of the files because Jones did not say he still wants a job, the ISES does not notify the CRA.

One Group Remains.

There is one group of CRA cards which remain active in the ISES files no matter what the reliefer does, until he finds a job in private industry. These are the cards of the reliefers who have been certified as being eligible for jobs on WPA.

At the present time there are 10,000 paupers on the CRA rolls who have been certified and are awaiting appointment to WPA. That means that of the 42,000 cases in which there are employables there are known to be 10,000 registered with the ISES who can be called to take jobs in private industry. But there is no way of knowing whether the other 32,000 are registered with the ISES.

"The public has the notion that the ISES is a relief agency," said Dr. A. H. R. Atwood, director of the service. "The ISES is not a relief agency—it is an employment agency which tries to find jobs for anybody who is unemployed."

A Job Agency's Problem.

Dr. Atwood and George L. Crowley, president of the Illinois board of private employment agencies, agreed that an employment agency, private or state, can be successful only if the employer has confidence in the agency. This confidence rests upon the agency sending and continuing to send to the employer only people who want to work and who are capable of filling an open job.

[This is the second article in a series on the relief situation.]

TAX COMPARISON

(Story in adjoining column.)

GET PROPOSALS TODAY

The planning subcommittee of a special committee of nearly 50 civic leaders named by John C. Martin, chairman of the Illinois emergency commission, to seek a way out of Chicago's relief crisis, will meet today to consider a proposal to form a permanent agency to coördinate the various government relief agencies.

This proposal, and others seeking an approach to solution of the relief problem, will be offered to the whole committee tomorrow. Stanley P. Farwell is secretary of the planning subcommittee of 11 members which will tackle the issues today.

At present there is no organization to coördinate the work of the emergency relief commission, the WPA, PWA, CCC, old age security pension board, unemployment compensation board, blind pension board, and private social agencies, all of which are trying to solve the same problem.

$4,653,195,000 TAX COLLECTED BY GOVERNMENT

Illinois Contributes 409 Millions to U. S.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Better business conditions and higher taxes poured more than 1 billion dollars of additional revenue into federal coffers in the last fiscal year.

Analyzing internal revenue collections for the year ended June 30, the treasury said today these increased $1,132,986,000, or 32.2 per cent, over the previous year. Collections aggregated $4,653,195,000.

The report attributed the increase to "continued improvement in business, changed provisions and higher rates of tax on individual and corporate incomes and estates and the new levies upon pay rolls." The latter were provided in the social security act.

Of total internal revenue collections, income taxes provided $2,148,663,000. This revenue increased 52 per cent over the previous year, with the corporation income levy gaining 43 per cent and the tax on individual incomes 62 per cent.

The greater revenue gain from individuals, officials said, was due in part to operation of the 1936 revenue act, which imposed the surtax on undistributed corporate profits.

The tax tended to stimulate dividend distributions, increasing taxable income in the hands of security holders.

New York provided $988,090,000 of all internal revenue collections, or 21.24 per cent. Next in line were Illinois, with $409,693,000 or 8.81 per cent, and Pennsylvania, with $399,877,000, or 8.58 per cent.

South Dakota recorded the smallest collections for any state, with $1,626,000, or 0.04 per cent of the aggregate. Indiana contributed $90,851,049; Michigan, $288,919,198; Wisconsin, $81,239,424, and Iowa, $18,981,523.

Mr. and Mrs. Illinois, paying personal income taxes, accounted for $89,499,272.30. Corporation taxes totaled $11,195,367.

The federal government collected $92,007,953.53 in alcoholic beverage taxes in the state.

The report said pay roll taxes under the social security and carrier acts brought in $32,707,976.23 from Illinois.

SEVEN INJURED IN EVANSTON AS 2 CARS COLLIDE

Two Women Are Critically Hurt in Crash.

Seven persons were injured, two critically, when two automobiles collided yesterday at Asbury street and South boulevard, Evanston.

Mrs. Louise Weiland, 8041 Kildare avenue, Niles Center, and Mrs. Cecilia Wilson, Waterville, Wash., were the most seriously injured. The others were Mrs. Weiland's husband, George, a florist at 682 Davis street, Evanston; their son, Jerome; Harry Wilson, husband of Mrs. Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wilson of Waterville.

Found Dead in Ditch.

Apparently the victim of an automobile accident, Joseph Palisser, 4019 North Tripp avenue, was found dead yesterday in a ditch along Bryant street, a block west of Plum Grove road in Palatine.

The nature of the injuries indicated to Morton Grove county highway police that he had been struck by an automobile. There were no marks in the road, however, and police concluded the man had been struck elsewhere and brought to the ditch by a panic stricken motorist.

Dies of Crash Injuries.

Peter Anderson, 7250 Champlain avenue, died in Jackson Park hospital of injuries incurred Saturday when his car was hit by a truck at 73d street and Indiana avenue. Grand Crossing police are holding Marcus Fisher, 1005 North Oakley avenue, driver of the truck, for the inquest today.

Mrs. Elsie O'Neill of Crystal Lake died in Northwest hospital, Des Plaines, of injuries incurred when the car she was driving hit a parked truck in Northwest highway at Rohling road, Arlington Heights.

An unidentified man about 45 years old died in Martha Washington hospital a few hours after he was hit by an automobile in Montrose avenue at Albany avenue.

Struck Also by Cab.

Edward Walther, 2641 George street, driver of the car, said that a taxicab came along a moment later and also struck the man. The cab driver, Walther said, promised to notify police, but no such notice was given.

Mrs. Alice Marren, 72 years old, 5017 Montana street, died last night in St. Anne's hospital of a skull fracture incurred Saturday. She was run down by an ice truck as she stepped off a safety island at Fullerton and Le Claire avenues. The driver was Arthur Lund, 3103 North Lavergne avenue.

A woman killed by a taxicab at Madison street and Hoyne avenue Saturday was identified last night as Mrs. Mary Kelly, 35 South Hoyne avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 785 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 599 were killed in Chicago, where 16,679 were injured in the same period.

LOIS BAKER.

They don't have elevated trains in New Orleans, and Lois Baker, who comes from there, was quite excited yesterday when she saw one for the first time. She is 3 years old.

"I'd surely like to ride in one," she said to her mother, Mrs. W. L. Baker.

An hour later Lois disappeared from the Parkland hotel, 1550 East 63d street, where the Bakers are staying, and soon afterward central police were asked to pick up a lost girl at the Adams-Wabash "L" station. They found Lois, a little cold but athrob with excitement.

She had ridden downtown alone.

SHOW ON HISTORY OF ADVERTISING TO OPEN TODAY

An exhibit tracing fifty years of advertising history will be opened this morning by the Chicago Federated Advertising club at its headquarters in the Sherman hotel. Seven panels depict the growth and development of one company's national advertising campaigns which were begun with an appropriation of less than $5,000 and is culminating this fall in one of the biggest campaigns in the clothing industry. Reproductions of newspaper, magazine, and outdoor advertising copy and direct mail, booklets, and window displays are featured.

GARY DEDICATES FOUR LANE ROUTE ACROSS THE CITY

The new Industrial highway, U. S. 12, a four lane industrial route through Gary, was opened yesterday with a celebration in which thousands of persons took part. There was a big parade, complete with bands, floats, and drum and bugle corps, and there were speeches.

The dedication of the new route, which replaces a 20 foot street that long has been a bottle neck on the route from Chicago to the east, a through route from Chicago to the east, attracted thousands of visitors from adjacent Indiana cities.

More than 4,000 war veterans, Boy Scouts, policemen, firemen, and members of service organizations marched in the parade, and there were ten bands, twelve drum and bugle corps, thirty-three floats, and 130 decorated automobiles and trucks.

CITY IN INDIA RAZED BY QUAKE IN 1935 JARRED BY NEW SHOCK

QUETTA, India, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Scene of one of the greatest earthquake tragedies of modern times, Quetta today shivered apprehensively with a new tremor of considerable intensity.

Arrow points to city jarred by quake.

The shock was felt at 10:30 a. m., but no damage was reported.

On May 31, 1935, a disastrous earthquake laid waste the valley of Baluchistan, Northern India, entirely destroying Quetta, capital of the area. The total death toll was estimated at 40,000, including 200 British. The city was sealed for a year on medical advice.

Bessie Smith, Famed Blues Singer, Killed in Car Crash

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Folks on famous Beale street mourned the death today of Bessie Smith, "Queen" of blues singers. In 1917 Bessie sang the blues in a Beale street show house, attracted attention of eastern theatrical agents and soon was famous. Broadway welcomed her and the bright lights of other cities added to her glory. She made many phonograph recordings. Two weeks ago she returned to Memphis to join the "Broadway Rastus" show on Beale street. Early today an automobile in which she was riding overturned, killing the singer. She was 50 years old.

HEAR ROOSEVELT HAS ABANDONED SPECIAL SESSION

Capital Is Told He Fears Furor Over Black.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 26.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt has abandoned the idea of a special session of congress because of the certainty of a furor, if a session should be called in November, over Justice Hugo L. Black's connections with the Ku Klux Klan, past or present.

Justice Black.

This was disclosed today by high administration officials, who said the President let it be known when he departed on his western trip from Hyde Park last Wednesday that there would be no extra session. To call one at this time, administration leaders declared, would be inviting trouble of a dangerous nature. There would be such a clamor for an investigation and possible impeachment proceedings against Justice Black that the administration's legislative program would get nowhere, and the President's prestige would suffer greater damage than it did in the last session, his congressional leaders and cabinet officers feel.

Black Stays in Spotlight.

The Black-Ku Klux Klan scandal continues to hold the Washington spotlight with the Supreme court scheduled to convene a week from tomorrow and Mr. Roosevelt's first justice scheduled to arrive in the United States this coming Wednesday. There is widespread speculation as to where and under what circumstances Mr. Black will come ashore, but the general assumption is that he will land "klandestinely," as he departed for Europe and as he took the judicial oath, secretly and after dark.

Black's friends have declared that he will make a statement concerning his connections with the Ku Klux Klan after his arrival, but it is believed that he will communicate with President Roosevelt first. He will tell the President, it is understood, that he joined the klan in 1923 but resigned in 1926; that when he accepted a lifetime membership after his senatorial nomination on Sept. 2, 1926, he regarded it merely as a good will gesture which did not commit him to the principles of the klan.

Foes of Justic Black, who contend that he won his senate confirmation by "moral fraud" in not answering the klan charges, have about abandoned hope that he will resign. Administration officials have asserted that President Roosevelt will request Black's resignation unless he can disprove any connection with the klan, but the President's chief hope now, they declare, is that the klan storm will blow over.

Wants to Let Flames Die.

For this reason he has no intention to kindle the flames of the controversy by calling a special session of congress, his advisers say. The chief purpose of the original plan for the calling of a special session Nov. 8 was to enact general production control farm legislation. It is now generally conceded that such a controversial program could not be put through before January, when the next regular session must convene.

Hearings on the still unwritten bill will not get under way until Friday, when a roving senate agriculture subcommittee under Senator George McGill [D., Kas.] meets in Spokane, Wash.

FOUND IN WOODS; RECOVERS.

Westport, Conn., Sept. 26.—[Special.]—Miss Catherine Heald, 31, found unconscious in a wooded section here yesterday, had recovered today. She explained she had taken an overdose of sleeping powder.

MOTHER IS LOSER

MRS. MARGARET FILLMORE.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 26.—[Special.]—A hearing to set aside the $20,000 judgment awarded Mrs. Margaret Fillmore against her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, will be conducted tomorrow.

Mrs. Fillmore, sister of the one-time screen darling, Mary Miles Minter, was awarded the verdict Friday in her suit to recover $48,750 she claimed her mother removed from a safety deposit box on Aug. 5, 1936.

In a deposition Mrs. Fillmore said she had "protected" Mrs. Shelby at the time of the William Desmond Taylor murder. Throughout the five weeks of the trial, circumstances of the mysterious filmland shooting were paraded before the court. An investigator testified Mrs. Shelby was considered a "suspect" in the Taylor enigma.

Gold Star Mothers' Services to Be Tonight

Memorial services will be held by the Woodlawn unit of the Gold Star Mothers' Chicago council at 6308 Woodlawn avenue tonight. Although Gov. CHINESE BREAK JAPAN'S LINES ON SHANGHAI FRONT

Invaders Rush Up More Men and Munitions.

Chinese men and munitions were destroyed.

At Hankow and Wuchang, commercial cities of the middle Yangtze valley, 303 bodies of Chinese civilians were recovered from débris after yesterday's Japanese air raids. A total of 469 injured were reported in the two cities. Three hundred Chinese dwelling houses were demolished and hundreds were partially destroyed.

Rear Admiral Honda offered as excuse for Japan's repeated bombardment of Chinese civilians a citation of The Hague air convention of 1923 which, he said, sanctioned such bombardment when civilians live near military objectives.

"Bombing of noncombatants," he said, "will not be carried out except for the destruction of highly important military positions. Even then, when civilians must be bombed, every precaution will be taken by the Japanese navy to lessen the loss of lives."

For the first time in the present warfare a member of the emperor's imperial family was wounded in action. Prince Hiroyoshi Fushimi, commander of a Japanese destroyer flotilla, suffered a slight wound during an engagement between Japanese warships and Chinese land batteries.

Break Through Main Wall.

PEIPING, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Japanese reported tonight that their troops in west Hopei province had broken through the inner great wall in a drive toward a Chinese troop concentration at Yenmen pass, in Shansi province.

The reports said 80,000 Chinese troops, "including many communists," were massed to resist the Japanese drive. A major battle appeared imminent.

On another northwestern front Japanese were said to have fought their way through a rugged mountain pass in northwest Shansi province to capture Liangcheng, only 40 miles from Kweisui, capital of the Mongolian province of Suiyuan.

Japanese troops were said to be pursuing Chinese westward along the Peiping-Suiyuan railway.

MAY WE STATE OUR CASE?

The American Legion Convention was one of the greatest spectacles New York City has ever witnessed. It is now history and hundreds of thousands of Legionnaires are again absorbed in their everyday interests.

From a hotel standpoint, too, the convention was a success. We made thousands of new friends by our sincere efforts to render normal service while our facilities were taxed to the utmost. Legionnaires know this. We thank them for their patronage and hope they will return soon again. But I would like to address a brief message to our other host of friends in this city.

On Wednesday, September 22nd, as a typical convention day, 4,116 persons were registered at the Hotel New Yorker—600 more than we had ever been obliged to accommodate before. Previously, five hundred telegrams were sent to regular New Yorker guests when the acuteness of the situation became apparent, asking them if possible to defer their visits. Approximately a thousand persons came to us with their families without reservations and we detailed a special staff to find accommodations for them elsewhere.

In view of these extremely unusual circumstances, and the possibility that we may have unwittingly inconvenienced some of our regular guests, we wish to ask publicly in this fashion their indulgence and rest our case on their own sense of understanding and fairness.

The Hotel New Yorker's reputation for courteous, attentive service at all times will be maintained whatever the cost for it has been hard earned by the resourcefulness and interest in the public's welfare that has characterized our relationship with more than two million guests since the hotel was opened in January, 1930.

PRESIDENT ENDS $2,500 PARK TRIP; CONTINUES WEST

Next Speech to Be Made at Bonneville Dam.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard Presidential Special En Route to Seattle, Wash., Sept. 26.—[Special.]—After another day in the awesome grandeur of Yellowstone National park President Roosevelt tonight was headed toward Boise, Idaho, on his transcontinental sentiment sounding tour.

With departure of the President today it was revealed that his sojourn in the park for a couple days had cost the taxpayers $2,500. The park had been closed two weeks ago as an economy measure when the President ordered Interior Secretary Harold Ickes to cut the park appropriation 10 per cent. The $2,500 represents the cost of operation for the three day reopening.

Begins Last Lap West.

The last lap of the western journey will bring dozens of platform appearances, such as were made in the swing through the middle west and western ranges to the park. Probably the most important speech of the trip will be at Bonneville dam in Washington, which he will visit Tuesday.

From Bonneville Mr. Roosevelt goes to Seattle for an overnight visit with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Boettiger, and her children, Eleanor and Curtis Dall. A short good neighbor visit to Victoria, B. C., follows before he turns homeward.

Court Reform Opposed.

So far on this pulse feeling trip Mr. Roosevelt has found the public distinctly cool to his court reform plan, but found little diminution of his personal popularity.

Mr. Roosevelt, as is his custom, slept late this morning. At the home of W. M. Nichols, president of the park company, he had luncheon before he set out on an 80 mile tour which had as its high spot Old Faithful, the most famous geyser in the world. In the late afternoon he reboarded his special for Idaho.

GIANT BOMBER PLANE IS NEAR ITS FIRST TESTS

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 26.—[Special.]—The newest of the army's bombardment weapons, a giant airplane nearly a third larger than the China Clippers, has been rolled out on the apron at the Boeing airport for engine tests.

Known at the Boeing factory as the XB-15, it has a 150 foot wing spread, weighs 75,000 pounds when fully equipped and loaded, will cruise about 6,000 miles, and will carry a military load of some four tons to the limit of its range.

The fuselage is 100 feet long and the ship is powered by four twin row engines of a new design which will deliver 1,400 horse power for takeoff.

SECOND PRIZE

Gov. Henry Horner and the muskellunge which he caught Saturday as guest of Gov. Philip La Follette of Wisconsin.

Trout Lake, Wis., Sept. 26.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois and Gov. Philip La Follette of Wisconsin set out on a fishing expedition today with but one thought—to better the record of Gov. Nels Kraschel of Iowa, whose 40 inch muskie catch of Saturday took the prize in the three-way contest. Gov. Horner was second with a 32 inch catch, while Gov. La Follette, host to the party, got none.

FALLS ON SIDEWALK; DIES.

A man identified as Frank Scanlon, 45 years old, 8054 Commercial avenue, a WPA worker, died yesterday in the County hospital of injuries incurred a few hours earlier when he fell on the sidewalk in front of 9233 Commercial avenue.

FRENCH SLEUTHS GET A DAY OFF—GUARDING WALLY

Weary of Hounding Spies and Lost Generals.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The duke and duchess of Windsor, visiting Paris together for the first time, gave 50 surete nationale [secret service] agents a welcome relief today from hunting vanished White Russian generals and Spanish rebel espionage agents.

When the duchess stepped smiling from the Orient express, the surete police, like a well trained chorus, clicked heels and bowed. In their anxiety to escort the duchess they almost forgot the duke, who followed her from the train.

Hats Off to Duchess.

Outside the station, another group of surete agents doffed their hats as the duchess, wearing a trim tailored suit, stepped into their car. She was followed by her bare-headed husband, former King Edward VIII. of England, who clutched a brief case under his arm.

The British embassy's second secretary, Armine Dew, greeted the couple at their nine-room suite in a Rue de Rivoli hotel. While the Windsors lunched, their staf of six moved in the luggage they brought from Austria.

In Time to See Americans.

On the street below, shopkeepers were filling their windows with American flags in preparation for arrival tomorrow of the first of a contingent of American war veterans revisiting France.

After the couple was safely installed in the hotel, all but four surete agents went back to their hunt for the missing Gen. Nicholas Skobline and Gen. Eugene de Miller.

KILLED BY STREET CAR.

Struck by a westbound street car in front of 650 Madison street, an unidentified man about 55 died a few hours later in the County hospital yesterday. Alfred McClement, 207 South Washtenaw avenue, the motorman, said the man stepped into the path of the car.

Ex-Kaiser's Cold Causes False Rumors in Berlin

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—Former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany is suffering from a severe cold at his castle in Doorn, the Netherlands, but is not dangerously ill, THE TRIBUNE was informed tonight. A telephone call was made to the castle after rumors had spread here that the former kaiser had died. Among the population of Berlin rumors persist that the former kaiser recently suffered an illness which affected his eyesight, but this also was denied.

Interesting combination—for the old-fashioned braid and the modern zipper offset each other nicely. And the knife-pleated skirt is, for once, extremely practical; the pleats are stitched halfway down to prevent them from coming out. The dress is made of acetate and rayon crepe. REBELS BATTER LOYALIST LINES ON TOLEDO FRONT

Defenders Forced Back to Second Positions.

MADRID, Sept. 26.—(AP)—A violent rebel attack on government lines just outside Toledo, 40 miles southwest of Madrid, and important government gains on the Aragon front, close to the Franco-Spanish frontier, were reported at government military headquarters here today.

Rebel troops outside Toledo were said to have battered government positions with fierce artillery barrages, tanks, armored cars and airplane bombardments, with only small gains. The government troops, fighting desperately, fell back to secondary lines and, with the aid of reënforcements, stood fast.

The Toledo fighting was in the zone where just a year ago the rebels lifted the long siege of the Alcazar, historic Spanish fortress. This front had been quiet recently.

Fight Way Across River.

From the other area of combat, north of Huesca in northeast Spain, came reports that government troops were trying to cut off Jaca, just a few miles south of the French border, and already had fought their way across the Gallego river, taking at least two positions on its bank.

The railroad linking Huesca and the rebel stronghold, Saragossa, was said to have been cut. Immediate government objectives were the highways to the north and south of Jaca. Success in taking them would leave the rebels connected with the French border only in the Irun sector.

Air Battle Over Madrid.

A thrilling air battle over Madrid today was seen by 150,000 persons gathered near the sports field to watch an athletic parade. Three rebel bombers roared over the field and anti-aircraft guns opened fire. Then government fighting planes took to the air and drove off the raiders, which were unable to bomb the city.

The Chilean charge d'affaires denied, in a telegram to the Spanish government foreign office at Valencia, that the Chilean embassy in Madrid had been used as headquarters for an alleged anti-government plot.

The Spanish government had rounded up some 200 suspects in charging the Chilean embassy had been used to hatch a plot to overthrow the Madrid-Valencia régime.

Asturians Holding Firm.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Asturian defenders reported they were holding their lines virtually intact against persistent Spanish rebel attacks on three fronts today and in some sectors of northern Spain launching counterattacks.

The rebels claimed to have taken several more villages in the sector about 25 miles south of Gijon and to have consolidated their control of territory already captured.

The most savage fighting was going on along the Sella river, some 30 miles east of Gijon, where Asturian miners told of sallying from positions along the river's west bank and charging rebel mountain defenses.

CITY EMPLOYE FOUND SHOT TO DEATH.

Robert Smith, 55 years old, employé of the city water department, was found shot to death yesterday in his room at 4452 North Ashland avenue. A small revolver was in his hand.

Try to Split Rebels

(Story in adjoining column.)

Arrow indicates where Spanish loyalists fought their way across the Gallego river and claimed to have cut Jaca's rail connection with rebel Saragossa. Maltese cross indicates where rebels near Toledo battered government positions and forced loyalists to retreat.

(Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.)

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 26. — A new Fascist party in the Netherlands has been formed by a number of former members of the National Socialist [Nazi] movement. The Nazis lost ten prominent members last week as well as many followers who left the party after disclosures of the leaders' espionage methods. The new party hopes to convert the country to universal Fascism instead of National Socialism.

MUNCIE SHOWS GRATITUDE TO BALL BROTHERS

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 26.—(AP)—A monument to Muncie's noted Ball brothers, gift of grateful townspeople, was dedicated today.

Neighbors and friends of the Balls and workers in Ball factories and stores here crowded the campus of Ball State Teachers' college for the unveiling of a winged statue called "Beneficence," last work of Sculptor Daniel Chester French.

Bands played. Dr. Glenn Frank, former president of the University of Wisconsin, spoke. President L. A. Pittenger accepted the monument for the college.

Pennies and dollars given by more than 11,000 persons paid for the tribute in stone, set in its own garden.

In a half circle behind it stand five classic columns surmounted by urns, one for each of the five brothers.

They came here fifty years ago from Buffalo, N. Y., and started a glass jar factory.

Today they own several stores and have interests in other enterprises.

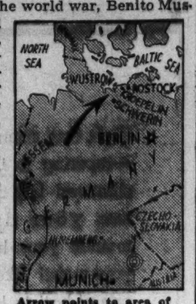
HITLER DISPLAYS MIGHT TO DUCE IN MIMIC WAR

Dictators to Tour Krupp Arms Plant Today.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—Two unknown soldiers of the world war, Benito Mussolini and Adolf Hitler, now supreme masters of their respective countries, stood on a hill in Mecklenburg today and saw the crack generals and troops of the German army fight a mock battle with all the newest weapons of death.



Arrow points to area of German maneuvers.

Mussolini, now the Fascist Duce of Italy, and his host Hitler, the German Fuehrer, spent the day watching secret army maneuvers along the Baltic—maneuvers that brought out the latest word in bombers, tanks, mystery guns, and rifles. It was Il Duce's second day of a five day state visit in Germany. After seeing the war games the two dictators started for the Krupp plant in Essen, the greatest arms factory in the world.

Promise a Proclamation.

Tomorrow they will inspect the big arms plant which is almost as feverishly busy as in the most frenzied days of the world war, and thus further show the world that their two countries are ready for all emergencies.

Meanwhile their diplomats gave assurance that Der Fuehrer and Il Duce in private talks are preparing a great proclamation to the democratic powers of the world. This, it was indicated, will announce their willingness to coöperate "provided their full moral rights and vital national needs are respected."

Today, as yesterday when they met in Munich, Il Duce and Der Fuehrer did not have much time together alone, but aids asserted the "two chiefs of state understand each other and do not need long private conferences to work out agreements and plan alliances such as other nations sign out of fear."

Hungarian Official a Guest.

The presence of the Hungarian defense minister, Gen. Vilmos Roeder, at the maneuvers created a piquant situation, meaning as it did that representatives of the old triple alliance which failed to work in war time were united again on the maneuver grounds where they had been so often in pre-war days. The British field marshal, Sir Cyril J. Deverell, also was present.

Deverell's presence was stressed in an article inspired by the government in the newspaper Montag, which declares his presence "is the best proof of the superiority of Italo-German policies," and adds that Germany is powerful enough that it need not sign alliances out of anxiety.

Urge Equal Rights for Italy.

The newspaper touched on the Spanish problem by saying Germany wishes only that other nations recognize "right from the start the equal rights of Italy in all naval and political negotiations."

On the sham battlefield in the vicinity of Rostock in north Germany where the thirty years' war raged and where troops of Napoleon fought, the great German maneuvers were terminated under the eyes of Mussolini and Hitler when the defending "blues" succeeded in crashing through the "red" lines.

Standing on Schmooksberg hill, Il Duce and Der Fuehrer watched the realistic, widespread battle. The reds were strongly entrenched on the heights. Suddenly 100 "blue" airplanes appeared in the sky and with bombs and machine gun fire prepared the way for hundreds of "blue" tanks which drove forward irresistibly on a broad front through the "red" lines while the infantry charged close behind, bringing final victory to the "blues."

The signal, "Cease fire" was sounded, terminating the operations on land and in the air. Maneuvers at sea ended yesterday.

Mussolini and Hitler left their special trains at Lalendorf station in Mecklenberg and were welcomed by high army and navy officials. They drove first to Belitz along a route line with innumerable heavy and light batteries firing heavily in support of the "blue" attack. Numerous "blue" tanks thundered past close to Der Fuehrer and his guest.

Maj. Gen. Ernst Udet—noted war ace and stunt flyer—landed near them in his Fieseler Stork plane and demonstrated how it can remain almost stationary in the air against a flat wind and land like an autogiro.

Cheered By Many Throngs.

The party proceeded to Stislow and then to Schmooksberg hill. The English and Hungarian military guests were introduced to Hitler there.

The final stage of the journey was in their two special trains to Kroepelin to visit the Wustrow exercise ground of the air force. All stations were thronged with cheering crowds.

All along the route of the journey the poorest cottages displayed flags and garlands. The same elaborate preparations have been made in the Ruhr district.

A great number of plants in the Ruhr will grant a special holiday with pay to workers to enable them to cheer the dictators of Italy and Germany on the visit to the Krupp plant. After the visit to Essen tomorrow morning, the dictators will start for Berlin, where a vast demonstration will welcome them.

While the official festivity and demonstration were progressing according to planned schedule, scenes behind the official setting were less friendly.

Much Confusion in Munich.

At the Munich railroad station last night, which presented one of the most disorganized spectacles ever witnessed in Germany, Fascist guests of honor in black uniforms were rushing around looking for the sleepers from Rome in which they were to travel to Berlin.

They tried to board the train carrying back to Berlin the bevy of movie beauties brought from the German capital to Munich to grace the tea for Il Duce and his men, but had to be satisfied with dating the girls, then continuing the search for their own cars.

Use Strong Language.

The Fascists used strong language when it took them two hours to find the cars. Nazis in uniform crowding the station could not understand them, but felt the guests failed to show the happy spirit they had expected and scowled in return.

There was a decidedly unfriendly atmosphere, but when the Italians upon arrival in Berlin spied the fleet of Germany's newest and spiffiest cars awaiting them for days in Berlin, their spirits were somewhat restored.

REDS SHOOT 21 MORE FOR WRECKING ACTS IN AGRICULTURAL WORK

MOSCOW, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Soviet Russia's awesome list of executions was swelled today when 21 more men were shot as disloyal "wreckers" in the agricultural industry.

Twelve of them were accused of plotting rebellion at two tractor stations in the Caucasus. Five men charged with responsibility for grain spoilage were given death in Moscow.

Four officials, attached to a sugar factory at Kiev, were given the supreme penalty on charges of treason and mismanagement of the plant.

A court martial at Irkutsk, Siberia, ordered fifteen men convicted of thievery and terrorism to face firing squads.

Close State Street Bridge Today for Repair Work

The State street bridge will be closed at 12:30 p. m. today for a short time to permit repairs, Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, said yesterday. Street car and auto trafic will be routed over the Wabash avenue bridge.

Braid trimming on a new soft short jacket suit copied from Schiaparelli

The soft dressmaker type of suit has been an American favorite with Paris designers for years. It's such a versatile thing. This one, for instance, copied from Schiaparelli. The fine imported wool, the scalloped front, the braid, and the rosette buttons make it equally wearable for street or afternoon.

Very new! Persian lamb trimmed pencil line coats that zip up the front

It's the newest way to fasten a coat (Molyneux did it again and again at the Openings), and the simplest cure for bulkiness we've ever seen. All lap, you see, is completely eliminated. You have left the trimmest silhouette possible, with interest concentrated on the silky black fur.

PAWNABLE PURCHASES

By CALEB

We have been distinguished many times by being sought out to serve people of great eminence. Naturally a roster of the most prominent people we have served would read like a "Who's Who" of the United States plus a "Who's Who" of traveling Europeans.

We have also been distinguished by the patronage and esteem of a man whose name would awaken a sense of recollection in but few minds, though we have seen it in the New Yorker and in Time. An adventurer, he, and while few of our customers, we hope, will ever need to use our merchandise as he has used it, there is a virtue in what we sell which we feel worth calling to your attention.

We quote the following letter from our adventurer friend.

"Dear Caleb:

"In my hobo travels I have come to think of pawnbrokers as a distinct and different species of animal life. They are not human beings, they are appraisers. You need not tell them how much you paid for an article, they already know. But there is one magic key that will unlock the doors to their golden hearts and induce them to loan you the limit on an article of merchandise, and that is to have the name of Marshall Field & Co. stamped on it.

"I had a suit of clothes from you which I pawned in almost every major city in the United States and many minor ones. In that suit I rode freight trains and passenger blinds thousands of miles, hitch-hiked, walked as many more, slept in fields and forests, worked, lay in jail, got rain soaked, and yet I could arrive at a city, have it cleaned and pressed and take it to a loan shop and always get enough to live a week or so till I could get a payday on some job I would pick up. The shark would look first at the inside coat pocket for the name of the maker and then, with only a further cursory examination, say, 'O.K., how much do you want on it?'

"The last time I pawned it I got $5 in Mobile, Ala., and by that time I figured that was all it was worth and I didn't redeem it. It was then over two years old and had been through hell on my back.

"F—— W——."

WOMAN BRAVES LOOP TRAFIC TO AID GIRL; WINS $5

Guides Her to Safety Amid Maelstrom.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Saturday afternoon is no time to seek, or expect, courtesy in the loop. There are too many people about, all in too much of a hurry. Trafic is snarled and pedestrians are impatient.

Mrs. Ethel Phillips.

Hurrying shoppers, their arms filled with bundles, or their eyes stern with the purpose necessary to propel themselves through the crowds, do not stop for the nicer amenities.

Consequently when Mrs. Ethel Phillips of 1513 South Harding avenue paused in the middle of a crowded intersection to guide a young girl out of the path of an oncoming car she was selected for THE TRIBUNE'S $5 politness award.

Trafic Light Changes.

Madison and Clark streets was a jostling intersection at 3 p. m. when a frail girl started to cross south on Clark. When she stepped out the trafic signal was green, but it changed to red as she reached the middle of Madison street.

Pedestrians ahead of her made the customary Chicago jump for the curb and sweet life. Most of those to the rear stepped back. But the girl and Mrs. Phillips were stranded, with trafic about to converge upon them.

A street car advanced from the east, and the girl swerved from the tracks just in time to get in the path of a line of cabs coming from the east. She was preparing to leap to safety when a firm hand closed imperatively around her wrist.

Guided to Safety.

"Watch out," cautioned Mrs. Phillips, large, motherly, and decorous in navy blue, as she pulled the girl to a halt.

Then, still holding the wrist, she called to the first cab driver in the line. "Wait, wait a minute," she commanded, and led the girl toward the sidewalk.

"I beg your pardon," said Mrs. Phillips quickly as she released the girl's wrist, "but you were in a dangerous spot, you know. I hope you don't mind."

Socialists and Communists Join to Aid La Guardia

New York, Sept. 26.—[Special.]—Norman Thomas, national chairman of the Socialist party, formally announced his withdrawal from the mayoralty race today.

While flatly declining to endorse Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia and bitterly assailing him for accepting the Republican nomination, Thomas asserted that his action was taken in order to allow individual socialists to coöperate with the American Labor party for the mayor's reelection.

The communist party will refrain from nominating a candidate.

WORKERS VANISH IN MYSTERY OF SOUTH SEAS ISLE

Well Filled Storehouses Left Behind.

PAPEETE, Tahiti, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The schooner Denys ran into a moudly South Seas mystery recently on a visit to Malden Island, 1,500 miles south of Hawaii.

Arrow points to Pacific Isle of mystery.

Malden, a prolific source of guano [fertilizer] which reputedly brought fortune to a canny but wandering sea captain, was found deserted under what looked like unusual circumstances.

The captain of the Denys reported he found large warehouses filled with merchandise of every description, a pharmacy building bulging with drugs and medical supplies, and numerous indications of a hurried departure by persons who supposedly had been harvesting wealth in the guano trade.

Many Places in Graveyard.

An outstanding feature of the island was a well filled graveyard, resting place of many men who have fallen in the heat and stench of the guano beds.

Malden was discovered in 1848 by an American whaling captain. He noted the wealth of guano and decided to return and exploit it when he finished his voyage.

In the meantime another whaling boat came along. Her captain got the same idea, but instead of delaying, threw his whaling plans overboard, sailed for Sydney and sold his discovery there for a comfortable sum of money.

The purchasing company worked the island for decades and was said to have amassed a great fortune.

But the Denys found Malden inhabited only by pigs and sea birds. The pigs presumably had been living on birds' eggs laid in the hot sands.

400 Chicagoans Take Ride on Their Hobby—Railroad

Nearly 400 Chicagoans who study railroading as a hobby and ride trains for fun took a 315 mile tour through northern and central Illinois yesterday. The trip was made in a special train over the Illinois Central system and was sponsored by the local chapter of the Railway Locomotive and Historical society, the Model Builders guild, and the Chicago Railroad club.

DATE NIGHTS AT SCHOOL FOR GIRLS ABOLISHED

Tecumseh, Okla., Sept. 26.—(AP)—There'll be no more "date nights," parties with young men as guests for the honor girls at Oklahoma's state training school.

The state board of affairs, acting on the recommendation of Mrs. Mabel Bassett, state commissioner of charities and corrections, has abolished the "date night" system at the correctional institution for girls.

"The girls are disappointed and hurt, but they are taking it like ladies," Mrs. Creighton Burnham, superintendent, said. Mrs. Bassett held the girls could practice social graces without the company of young men.

BAR HEAD URGES PUBLIC SUPPORT IN COURT BATTLE

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Frederick H. Stinchfield, president of the American Bar association, today said the Roosevelt administration apparently is determined "to destroy the Supreme court of the United States as we have heretofore known that court."

He asserted an "unequal" struggle is impending "between the President and the lawyers of the United States" and appealed for nationwide public faith in "our claims of wishing the best for our country."

The bar association head told interviewers President Roosevelt had indicated he would proceed with the court plan "but first I believe he intends to disarm the lawyers who might speak in opposition. He'll attempt to discredit them and take away their influence with the people."

Referring to the appointment of Justice Hugo L. Black, Stinchfield said "every man can accept for himself his judgment of Mr. Black, but it is evident that is the kind of man the President intends to place on the Supreme court. He is a sample of what the other five would be."

BEG YOUR PARDON

It was stated in THE TRIBUNE of last Thursday that the trafic accident that resulted in the death of Charles Wright, 6 years old, 2324 North Normandy avenue, occurred Aug. 26. Instead the accident occurred Sept. 22 at Grand and Harlem avenues in Elmwood Park.

FIREBUG STRIKES SAME BUILDING 2D TIME IN WEEK

The firebug who has started nearly twenty fires in north side apartment buildings in recent weeks apparently struck again today with a fire in the three story building at 544½ Surf street.

Miss Anita Pierce, a secretary, who occupies the third floor, discovered the flames, and ran to the rear porch for help. Smoke and fire held her back until Leo Morgan, the janitor, led her down to safety. No one was at home at the second floor apartment of Miss Vivian Flynn. The first floor is empty. The damage was estimated at $3,000. Police attributed the blaze to the firebug because this was the second fire in the building in a week.

FEDERAL COURT TO OPEN TODAY; DOCKET IS LIGHT

The fall term of the Federal district court will open here today with the fewest docketed criminal cases in its history, according to United States District Attorney Michael L. Igoe. There are 125 criminal cases pending among the five judges of the United States District court.

The civil branch of the court, however, has 2,056 cases awaiting disposal, the heaviest docket in many years. These include 566 cases to which the government is a party. In addition there are 2,339 bankruptcy cases.

Free Yourself From Money Worries.
Get a Real Job, Real Pay, Real Future.
Become Independent in the Next 6 Years.

Tonight, at Orchestra Hall, G. E. Marchand of New York, will give the only program of its kind in the world, which will be the talk of Chicago for months to come.

G. E. MARCHAND
Can Show You
How to Become More Successful in Business and in Life

If you are not satisfied with your progress—if the future seems to hold little promise—if you want to give yourself and loved ones the good things of life—then come tonight and hear G. E. Marchand at Orchestra Hall.

Mr. Marchand discovered certain secrets that turned his own life from poverty to earnings of over a million dollars before he was 37. He told his secret to a few friends. Their success was immediate. He told a few more. They, too, increased their incomes.

SUCCESS BROUGHT TO YOU

Mr. Marchand then decided to give a part of his time to helping earnest men and women win greater success. People thronged to hear him and were lifted from dull, underpaid jobs to high-salaried positions. He became known as "America's Famous Maker of Successful Men and Women."

TONIGHT—FREE

Tonight, Mr. Marchand will show you, with demonstrations on the stage, how you can turn your ability into cash and become independent.

3,994,187 people have attended Mr. Marchand's dynamic demonstrations. Tonight you can see and hear him free. Mr. Marchand's program tonight may enable you to live a life that is personally, socially and financially bigger and better than ever before.

THE BEAR MARKET.

More than the usual number of persons found the stock market last week an enigma. The common man's comprehension was not even helped by the brokers, bankers, investment advisory services, and financial writers, who in the past have always provided quickly, plausible explanations of abrupt changes in security prices. Last week it was different; the brokers could only point to the dwindling prices on the fast shifting ticker tape, and the others could only hint at foreign influences and the possibility of a letdown in business.

Here is not the place to find the answer to the question the experts couldn't answer. It may be of some assistance in finding the ultimate answer if we summarize some of the factual information.

It seems clear that a business recession has not precipitated the decline in the stock market. On the very day of the sharpest decline in stocks the figures for railroad car loadings were released showing the largest volume of freight in transit for any week in seven years. Sales of Chicago department stores are reported to be showing a greater increase over a year ago than in any recent month. And the number of new automobiles sold in Cook county in the first 17 days of September was well in excess of any similar period back to 1929.

Nor has there been a sudden downward plunge in the commodity price level. Farm prices with the exception of cotton have held firm. Live stock is selling at the highest price in a long period of years. Although some world commodities have been declining, the drop was probably a reflection rather than a cause of the stock decline.

The threat of a general war may have been responsible for some of the selling of securities. Strained relations between Russia and Italy were disclosed during the Labor day holiday, and the market sold off sharply as soon as trading on the exchanges was resumed. However, the war scare did not become so serious as to account alone for what has happened last week and the week before.

Some of the corporation reports have undoubtedly had an effect upon prices. A large number of corporations have found that the increased volume of business which they have had during the first half of the year did not add to their profits. Rising costs resulting from wage increases and reduced hours have actually cut into profits, although the gross volume of sales expanded. When Western Union, an old time investment favorite, as a result of reduced earnings deferred action on dividends the effect upon the market must have been decidedly bearish.

The most powerful influence in depressing markets may have been the disclosure that the man who is to take his seat in the United States Supreme court is a life member of a terroristic organization. The further disclosure that the President who made the unfortunate appointment is proceeding with his campaign to get authority to make other appointments may have been equally disquieting.

But whether the market went down because of the war scare, profitless prosperity, K. K. K. in the Supreme court, or revival of the campaign to pack the court with yes men, the continuation of dropping markets will be on the President's hands. The New Deal has declared that it will control markets, and exercises some control in every transaction. It has the power to do many things to affect the market, has done many things, and continues to do them. In view of the powers the administration possesses, and the claims made in getting the powers voted to it, it is only fair to say that if the market goes down the President has willed it that way. If we are in a bear market it is the Roosevelt bear market.

ANTIETAM.

Letters from our readers elicited by the editorial on the seventy-fifth anniversary of the battle of Antietam were too many and too long to publish, although all were worthy of attention as well as welcome evidence of interest in American history. We publish two of the shorter critical comments which are, however, characteristic. The assertion of the editorial that Lee never won a strategic offensive campaign, which we hoped would provoke discussion, is not very satisfactorily countered, partly through failure to distinguish tactics and strategy. But the chief reaction seems to have been one of partisan emotion.

There was no hint in this editorial that the southern forces were not brave, although there are signs in some of the comment of the survival of the southern conviction that one southern fighting man was as good as ten Yankees. McClellan at Antietam had an advantage in numbers which under a general like Grant or Sherman or Sheridan would have insured such a decisive victory as Chattanooga or Five Forks, and would have assured it to Lee if he had possessed it. But it was not as great on the field of battle as admirers of Lee and the southern cause would have us think. The advantage of position and the defensive rôle was Lee's. Both his men and those of McClellan's who were put into combat fought heroically, and all Americans, north and south, have reason to be proud of them.

But Ardant du Picq, the great French psychologist of war, has a remark which is apposite to most such discussions. "The conquered," he says, "always console themselves with their bravery, and conquerors never contradict."

THE LEGION AND THE CONSTITUTION.

Indorsing the recommendation of the Legion's Americanization committee, that the organization prepare and distribute information on the federal constitution, the outgoing national commander, Mr. Colmery, has admirably summarized trends which are gradually transforming our federal government.

In the face of these trends Mr. Colmery said: "The trend away from local self-government, the increased centralization of government authority, the increase in burocratic forms of administration, the proposal to transfer judicial authority to the legislative, to give the legislative branch appellate jurisdiction of the judicial, the school of thought which would disrupt the 'check and balance' between executive, legislative and judicial—these trends suggest most forcibly the need for such a study and such a program."

There is nothing in the mere wording of the constitution explicitly forbidding these developments and the mere distribution of copies of that document is not enough. Mr. Colmery points out that study is needed, a study that will elucidate the principles on which our fundamental law is founded, examine the human experience from which it sprang, and explain its purposes.

This is a task which the public schools should have performed but have not. The Legion alone cannot; but the influence of its activity in this field can be substantial. It may be able to bring about a more intelligent and energetic interest in constitutional instruction. Without it our generation is only too likely to surrender benefits and protections which it has taken for granted and which it has not learned to relate to the principles and institutions that created and foster them.

The constitution does not explicitly forbid the building up of a vast federal burocracy, the piling up of a vast national debt, the invention and extension of federal activities to duplicate or replace activities which communities and states can and do carry on. It does not forbid these any more than it forbids the maintenance of a huge standing army or a navy twice or thrice as large as the nation needs. These are questions of policy which the constitution leaves to the judgment of the people and their representatives.

The constitution does not explicitly forbid the executive and legislative branches of the government to pack the Supreme court by increasing its membership and appointing members known to be favorable to the proposals and purposes of the administration in power. But this is contrary to the intent and spirit of the constitution, to the system of government it was framed to support and to the principles which have been cherished by the American people through the greater part of their history. The American people are free to transform or abolish their form of government. They are free by amendment of its organic law to abolish every civil right. They are free to throw away all the limits fixed by their wise and liberty loving predecessors upon the powers of government. They can abandon all constitutional government and confide their welfare to the unrestrained judgment and will of a single individual or faction or party.

We know that other great peoples have done this in our own time and under our own eyes. It seems very unlikely that the American people will follow in that path. But the trends which Mr. Colmery and many other Americans have pointed out are along that path and if not arrested will carry us eventually to the same conclusion. They will not be arrested or even checked unless we understand them and understand them in time, for they are steadily creating or entrenching conditions which will make escape from them difficult or impossible. To understand the constitution and the principles of free government which underlie it is to understand the meaning of subversive trends, and the American Legion could hardly undertake a service of greater value to the nation than that which its Americanization committee proposes.

Editorial of the Day

U. S. AID TO SCHOOLS.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

Are we now to expect the federal government, under the facile guise of a benevolent paternalism, to reach its ambitious arm into the classrooms of the nation? Is the once genial-visaged Uncle Sam, whose brow grows increasingly furrowed with too many burdens, to take up the ferrule in public schools of the United States? The prospect is not at all remote, and it is a possibility not to be countenanced.

Congress has before it a bill to appropriate $100,000,000 for the aid of community schools, a proposal that at first blush might appear entirely praiseworthy. We are wont to set tremendous store, and justly, by our institutions of education. But it is by no means a tenuous stretch of the imagination to forecast a danger in this and other evidences of federal subsidy in the school systems. Where the Washington government sinks its funds, Washington demands right of supervision, sometimes of direction.

Gov. Clyde R. Hoey of North Carolina predicted before a meeting of governors in Atlantic City that within 10 years the federal coffers would be contributing $5,500,000,000 to schools of the country. He asks, "Then what?" The obvious answer is that the national government would assume at least some part in formulating curricula or policies under which the next generation will be educated.

Most of the twenty governors attending the Atlantic City conference expressed fear of what might occur if state-operated school systems begin drawing support from the chimerically bottomless pocket of the federal government. Through the National Youth administration, the New Deal has already made federal entry into the field of education, distributing millions of dollars to students for part time work. The NYA may have been a wholly creditable project for a depression era. Just the same, it was an opening wedge by which federal government made an appearance in the field of education.

Federal control or supervision of America's schools would be practically unfeasible and essentially opposed to fundamentals of democracy. Problems and needs of different localities would render impossible a general yardstick of supervision, such as the government would necessarily have to adopt. But immensely more important, the encroachment of national government in education would strike at freedom of thought. Methods and standards of education must be unhampered by even the threat of federal regimentation, unless we are to capitulate to the theories of dictatorship.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

YOU'D THINK those fellows over at the bus company would be pleased as anything when it rains and people who might otherwise walk have to ride. They are, too, except during the evening rush hour. Then they worry, and glower, and send somewhat serious young men out to places like the Drake with note pads, to check how late the buses are.

We ducked into the same doorway as the one at the Drake when it rained the other evening. He said the buses were forty minutes late because trafic congestion in the loop was delaying them. He clucked rather disapprovingly when No. 1472 came along 42 minutes late, but he was obviously happy when one of the 700s got there only 37 minutes behind time.

The young man said that although they collect lots of data on how late the buses are during a dinner hour rain, they've never found anything they can do about it. We suggested that the drivers scowl at the cabbies in the loop, but he said that wouldn't do much good. The cabs that flock downtown at the first sign of rain gum things up some, he said, but the real trouble is the private cars. Chauffeurs, fearing the jam will make them late, drive into the loop early for their bosses, and the bosses are never ready. So the chauffeurs just cruise. Then a lot of wives drive down after their husbands on rainy days. It's a bad situation.

That was 21 years ago, but the society, instead of slipping, keeps on growing. It has 31,000 members now. Some weeks Mr. Dulany gets as many as 50 letters and telegrams at his loop office from members and travelers who'd like to join. The campaign has been successful, he says, for hardly any one calls a porter George any more. The Pullman company has at his request put up cards in its cars telling the porter's real name, and experienced travelers who want the best service always check up on it and use it; none of this Henry or Joe guessing, either. Only 362 of the company's 12,552 porters are really named George, according to Mr. Dulany. There are more Johns and Williams than Georges, and more Ebenezers than you'd suspect. Senator Walter F. X-RAYS FOR BOILS AND CARBUNCLES.

UNLESS mere males are willing to wash the neck daily, giving it a thorough scrubbing with soap and water; unless they are obliged to shampoo their hair frequently; unless they are committed to the policy of wearing clean collars, and unless they are taught to avoid rubbing and scratching the face with soiled fingers—just so long will they be subject to boils and carbuncles. These abscesses are always skin infections—at least, at first—although if neglected, squeezed, or improperly handled, the causative bacteria may spread to the blood stream with disastrous consequences.

The time honored remedies—hot poultices and hot water compresses—are standbys of no mean merit, and many a housewife can bear witness to the long hours spent in preparing steaming poultices or changing hot wet packs. But the results, for the most part, are salutary. The inflammation is localized, pus forms, and on its discharge healing begins.

Many new plans to shorten the duration of these annoying affairs have been devised, notably that of inserting a small cotton pledget soaked with pure carbolic acid directly into the softened center of the swelling. Every victim seeks the quickest and best form of relief, as the pain is considerable, the incapacity even greater.

Within recent years the use of filtered X-ray has been suggested and tried with the thought that this powerful force will disintegrate certain blood cells and thus set free protecting material which will destroy bacteria. Many reports are now available indicating that when properly applied exposure to the X-ray will lessen pain within twelve to twenty-four hours. The fever diminishes and sometimes the whole inflammatory mass will undergo absorption. The most advantageous time to use this agent is before pus has formed. Especially is this true of infections on the face, about the nose, or on the upper lip.

Every physician knows that boils or carbuncles on the face are dangerous, because if an incision is made into the site prematurely or with but little skill, bacteria are likely to find their way into lymph channels or large blood vessels of the neck or skull. All the more reason, therefore, for avoiding surgical intervention if the desired effect can be accomplished by some other means.

Furthermore, the scar following X-ray treatment is usually negligible or nonexistent. Many enthusiasts believe that radiation is almost a specific for this type of infection, particularly if it can be applied early in the course of inflammation.

A current report of thirty-three treated cases is most encouraging. Twelve were on the neck, eight on the face, four in the armpit, five on the extremities, and four on the back. Three of the outbreaks on the neck were deep, hard lumps which X-ray appeared unable to penetrate. Other than these, all responded, although only two of the entire number received prompt treatment. Most of the patients had suffered pain and discomfort for several days before consulting a physician. Filtered doses were used, and in the majority of instances the lesions receded within two or three days, the pain decreasing within the first twelve hours.

Other infections of the skin, such as erysipelas, yield likewise to the action of the Roentgen rays and, in the opinion of many observers, radiation deserves first place among remedial agents in this disease. The dose and the number of applications vary with the severity and extent of the trouble.

It should be recalled that the urine must be watched with much care, as it is necessary to detect diabetes, so commonly associated with recurring crops of boils. An attack upon the diabetes, with a reduction in the level of the blood sugar, will frequently be followed by the disappearance of skin irritations.

ASTHMA.

Mrs. L. P. writes:

1. What is wrong when one has asthma?
2. How does it differ from chronic bronchitis?
3. Is there a cough with asthma?
4. What can be done for asthma?

REPLY.

1. When one is suffering from spasmodic contractions of the muscular coats surrounding the smaller bronchial tubes there is swelling of the mucous lining. The disease is characterized by labored breathing because the victim cannot force air out of the lungs.
2. It differs from chronic bronchitis in that the latter is an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the larger and middle sized bronchial tubes. There is a cough and more or less pronuse expectoration.
3. Usually.
4. The cause in each particular case must be removed as some sensitivity may be responsible. Foods to which you are allergic must be eliminated. Offending animals must be removed. Vaccines are often employed.

CAR SICKNESS.

A. R. writes: I am 16 years old and suffer terribly from car sickness. What causes this and what is the remedy?

REPLY.

Car sickness may have a nervous or a digestive basis. Individuals who have difficulty in adjusting themselves to unfamiliar movements are susceptible. Occasionally the balancing machinery of the inner ear is too sensitive. Eye strain, constipation, sensitiveness to odors, and migraine are among the causative factors. Prevention lies in correction of errors of refraction; eating lightly and drinking plenty of water before a trip. Ride in a well ventilated car and read a book or magazine rather than risk the effects of eye movements which follow watching the landscape rush by.

MANIC-DEPRESSIVE.

R. J. writes: What is meant by a manic-depressive psychosis?

REPLY.

This is a functional mental disease and may vary from states of exaltation and maniacal excitement, to depression with physical and mental slowing. It is regarded as recoverable, but recurrence is possible. Duration of the illness is usually from 6 to 12 months. In the treatment of the disease hospitalization may be needed. Confidence in a competent physician will help to speed recovery and to bring about an understanding of personal problems.

VITAMIN D.

C. L. G. writes: We are feeding our youngster one quart of irradiated milk a day. Is there danger of getting too much vitamin D from this amount?

REPLY.

No. Large doses of some of the vitamin D concentrates, however, may predispose to the formation of kidney or bladder stones.

WHITE CAPS

From Across the Sea

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN.—Getting her attic cleaned up "some day" is something which every housewife hopes to do. But in Germany attics are being cleaned free of all charge. And what is found in the attics will be used to further Germany's economic self-sufficiency under the new four year plan.

The Nazi Organization for Prevention of Waste has announced it will visit every attic in Germany before Oct. 20. The accumulated rubbish in millions of homes will be looked over thoroughly. Usable materials will be converted into goods, and the rest disposed of in other ways.

The campaign for cleaning will be carried out according to a definite plan laid down by experts. Members of the Civilian Air Protection corps will assist.

While the attics are being searched for scraps of iron and what not Col. Gen. Herman Wilhelm Goering, commissioner for enforcement of the four year plan, has ordered all cities of more than 35,000 inhabitants to organize the utilization of all waste and garbage. The waste must be sorted and all materials which can be used again must be extracted.

It further has been decreed that cities of more than 35,000 inhabitants must collect statistical data concerning the quality of garbage, the various materials sorted from it, and the number of workers employed in the business.

Larger cities, where waste is collected in several places, must prepare separate statistical reports for each disposal plant which handles more than 50 tons daily. The decree demands that these measures be executed with as little expense as possible.

FUNERAL PROCESSIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In answering a question as to right of way of funeral processions you said:

Emergency vehicles as defined in section 1 of the trafic code are excused by section 5 from strict compliance with the code, but the definition does not include funeral vehicles. Section 43 prohibits driving "between the vehicles comprising a funeral procession," but we find no authority for the common assumption that funeral processions can themselves disregard trafic lights. We disapprove of the practice.

We enclose one of the funeral windshield stickers, on the back of which is printed an excerpt from section 3850 of the city code of 1922, providing that cars bearing such stickers shall have the right of way over all other vehicles except fire apparatus, ambulances, and police patrol vehicles at any street or highway intersection within the city."

We believe a correction should be made.

CHICAGO FUNERAL DIRECTORS' ASS'N.

Your quotation is from a superseded edition of the city code. The edition of 1931 does not contain the wording on which you rely, and section 4303 of the current code expressly repeals older general ordinances. We see no reason to modify our previous answer.

In our opinion, the statement on your sticker is inaccurate and dangerous and should be corrected.

DEFECTIVE GUTTERS.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—[Friend of the People.]—I would like to know if there is any way to compel the owners of the building next door to clean up their bathrooms and instal rain gutters and down spouts on their property. There is only a space of about two feet between the buildings, and the odor from their bathrooms, coupled with the lack of gutters, make it impossible for us to open our bedroom windows at any time.

V. E.

An inspector was assigned to make an investigation which resulted in the following notice being served on the agent:

"Repair defective roof gutter and downspout on the south side of the building."

A reinspection revealed that the foregoing order had been complied with.

UNREASONABLE AND INEFFECTUAL.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Please count me as one who dissents from your attack upon Associate Justice Black on the ground that he is a member of the klan. Though not a member myself and, in general, disagreeing with their racial and religious prejudices, I would like to call your attention to the fact that many Americans belong to organizations in which similar or other prejudices quite as dangerous, quite as deplorable, are either explicit or inherent. For instance, membership in the Roman Catholic church or the Knights of Columbus necessarily implies intense hostility to Protestants and Socialists and, if the person is an Irishman or a German Catholic, he is probably bitterly hostile to the English. I do not believe, therefore, that your vociferous campaign against Justice Black is reasonable and I feel quite sure it will be ineffectual with the majority of our citizens. You will have to find some other stick with which to beat the dog around the bush!

ANTIETAM.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—May I take exception to your editorial of last week on the battle of Antietam, in which the writer stated that Gen. Lee never won an offensive battle? Let me call attention to the fact that at the outset of the war between the states, it was the policy of President Davis' government to avoid an offensive. Their cardinal principle at the opening of the war was that the states had a right to peacefully secede and defend their borders against invasion.

When Gen. Beauregard routed the northern forces at the first battle of Manassas [Bull Run] and was in a position to take Washington, President Davis vetoed the idea.

Gen. Lee, in West Virginia at the time, had very inferior raw recruits who were suffering a great deal from sickness. Gen. Lee at all times was opposed by superior forces. At Antietam, which you generously call a draw, he had only 25,000 against 87,000 under Gen. McClellan, and yet the Union losses were 12,000 to 10,000 of the confederates. If the battle of Gettysburg had taken place in Virginia instead of Pennsylvania it might very well have been called a draw, too, as their losses were about equal, and many students of that battle feel that had Gen. Jackson commanded Longstreet's corps and attacked early in the morning of July 3, victory might have been to the south.

When Grant took command of the Union forces he had an army of 150,000 while Lee had barely 60,000, with almost no replacements. It is small wonder that Lee had to be on the defensive, in view of the fact that he was constantly outnumbered and had to be constantly outmaneuvering his adversary. In the summer of '64 Grant was called "The Butcher," for he lost probably three men to Lee's one. Grant had replacements, Lee did not. Lee was handicapped further by antiquated rifles, insufficient supplies and lack of unity among the various governors of the states.

I feel that had Lee at any time had equal numbers he would have proved a superior offensive general.

C. L. STROBEL JR.

HE DOESN'T LIKE US.

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 18.—In continuation of a policy originating in the '50s THE TRIBUNE contributes "Antietam" to its so-called editorial pages. The policy could be entitled "That Sectionalism Shall Not Perish from the Earth."

The ink-blooded warriors of THE TRIBUNE staf have judged Gen. Lee and found adjectives of depreciation which, no doubt, satisfy some inner consciousness of inferiority. In the past THE TRIBUNE has been extravagant in the praises of Theodore Roosevelt; the colonel—a real fighting man, himself—said: "The world has never seen better soldiers than those who followed Lee; and their leader will undoubtedly rank as the very greatest of all the great captains of the English speaking people. . . ." [Life of Benton; American Statesmen Series, Page 38].

Or possibly THE TRIBUNE has overlooked the views of Col. Henderson of the British army, then head of the great military college, who stated the five greatest generals were: Wellington, Marlborough, Washington, Lee, and Stonewall Jackson.

Many authorities give the forces at Sharpsburg as 80,000 for the northern forces and 35,000 for the southern; be that as it may, you will find the battle was fought in an open field and it is ridiculous to state "Lee defended a strong position."

How the German soldier-students, who use Lee's and Jackson's campaigns as text books, would laugh at your statement "Whenever Lee took the strategic offensive he failed."

Just what is THE TRIBUNE'S "offensive strategy" in such an article? You do little justice to the G. A. R. if you suggest their southern opponents were inefficiently led. W. E. DEATON.

$43,000,000 CUT IN PUBLIC DEBTS OF COOK COUNTY

Reduction Is Forecast by Next March.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

The six major local governments in Cook county paid off in cash from their sinking funds and tax collections $30,085,500 worth of bonds in the first nine months of 1937 and it is estimated they will retire an additional $26,058,000 between now and next March 1, according to a survey of bonded debts of the governments.

The study, prepared by the Illinois company of Chicago, an investment concern, shows that the estimated bonded debt retirements of more than 56 million dollars for the fourteen months period is nearly one-eighth of the gross bonded debts of the city, school board, park district, sanitary district, county, and forest preserve at the end of 1936.

$43,000,000 Net Reduction.

The net reduction in the aggregate bonded debt will be less than this, however, as the governments sold an additional 13 million dollars' worth of bonds. The net decrease for the fourteen months provided no more bonds are sold, is estimated at approximately 43 million dollars. The gross bonded debts of the six governments totaled $477,320,750 at the close of 1936, and are expected to amount to $434,177,250 on next March 1.

The bonded debts of these governments applicable to Chicago only, including all of the city, school board and park district and more than 80 per cent of sanitary district, county and forest preserve, totaled 445 million dollars at the end of 1936, are now 426 millions and will be 406 million on next March 1, according to the study.

Per Capita Debt. Is $122.

This would make an estimated decrease in the city's overlapping debt of 39 million dollars. Those portions of the sanitary district, county, and forest preserve district outside the city limits are excluded in figuring the overlapping debt.

The per capita bonded debt for Chicago is now $122. This is arrived at by dividing the present 426 million dollar overlapping debt by an estimated population of 3,500,000. The $122 compares with a per capita debt of $127 at the close of 1936 and an estimated $116 next March.

The estimated cash retirements of bonds by each of the governments for the fourteen months, as shown in the survey, follow:

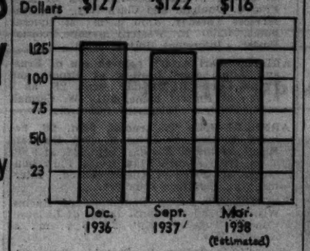
	Estimated bond requirements.	Per cent of bond outstanding Dec. 31, 1936.
City	$15,739,000	12.8
School board	3,899,000	9.4
Park district	10,524,000	9.3
Sanitary district	14,641,500	10.5
County	9,757,000	20.5
Forest preserve	1,583,000	12.7
Total	$56,143,500	11.7

The $56,143,500 in estimated retirements is 11.7 per cent of the bonds outstanding at the end of 1936.

The survey states that while 11 million dollars has been added to the city bonded debt through the bond sale, there was not an actual increase in debt as proceeds of the bonds paid off judgments which were a part of the city debt. The $11,000,000 judgment funding operation resulted in a large annual interest saving as the bonds carry only 3 per cent interest compared with 5 per cent on the judgments.

Per Capita Bonded Debt

(Story in adjoining column.)



Overlapping bonded debt per capita in Chicago at present compared with figure at end of 1936 and estimate for next March. The overlapping debt is the aggregate of all bonded debts of the city, school board and park district, and proportionate figures for those parts of the sanitary district, county and forest preserve district lying within the city.

G. T. EMMET, NEW U. S. MINISTER TO AUSTRIA, IS DEAD

Former Law Partner of President Roosevelt.

VIENNA, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Grenville T. Emmet, new United States minister to Austria, died today of double pneumonia after a short illness. He was 60 years old. Emmet, a former law partner of President Roosevelt, had been in active charge of the American ministry here for only ten days. He was appointed to the post July 6.

Grenville T. Emmet. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Emmet was a senior partner in the law firm of Emmet, Marvin and Martin, New York City. President Roosevelt was a junior partner in the firm after his defeat for the vice presidency in 1920. At that time the firm name was Emmet, Marvin and Roosevelt. Mr. Roosevelt retired from the firm in 1922. In 1933 Emmet was named minister to the Netherlands.

The minister is survived by his wife, the former Pauline A. Ferguson of St. Paul, Minn.; a son, and two daughters.

MRS. MARGARET MALLOY, SISTER OF PRIEST, DIES

Father Rice is pastor of Our Lady of Peace church on the south side. Mrs Malloy is survived by Father Rice, another brother, John Rice of River Forest, a sister, Mrs. James J. Carey of Oak Park, and a daughter, Eileen of Dubuque, Ia. Mrs. Malloy came from Waterloo, Ia., where her husband, Dr. Edward Malloy, died ten years ago. Funeral services will be at St. Thomas Aquinas church at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday.

Inhalator Squad Works 8 Hours in Vain to Save Boy

Death won over a fire department inhalator squad early today in a fight to save the life of Michael Roudebush, 11 years old, 2848 Wallace street, at St. Bernard's hospital. The boy was overcome by smoke yesterday in a fire at 6356 Stewart avenue where he was visiting relatives. Firemen rescued him and several other persons. When his breathing became difficult last night, Inhalator Squad 3, under Lieut. Frank Watson, went to his aid, and worked on him eight hours but without success.

Charles Strater, Tobacco and Grain Dealer, Dies

New York, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Charles Godfrey Strater, 81, former tobacco company head and once a leading citizen of Louisville, Ky., died yesterday at his home in Rye, N. Y. A native of Evansville, Ind., Strater began working in his uncle's grain elevator in Louisville in 1870. With two brothers he formed the Strater Brothers Grain company in 1880 and ten years later they organized the Strater Brothers Tobacco company.

Mrs. Nora Walz Funeral Will Be Held Wednesday

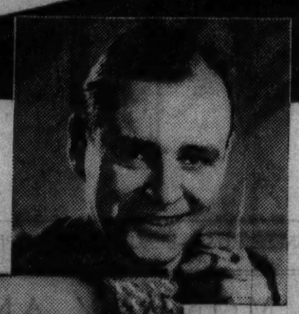
B. H. CONKLING DIES; RETIRED INSURANCE MAN

Benjamin H. Conkling, retired insurance man, died last night at his home, 5490 South Shore drive, after a brief illness. Born in Newburgh, N. Y., he came to Chicago more than 50 years ago and since then was a south side resident. In 1893, shortly after he entered the insurance business, he organized the firm of Conkling, Price & Webb with Fred A. Price and George D. Webb. He retired 15 years ago. Mr. Conkling was a charter member of the Chicago Athletic association and a member of the South Shore Country club. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ann Conkling.

John Summers, Former Congressman, Dies at 67

Walla Walla, Wash., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Former Congressman John W. Summers, 67, died at his home here last night. He had been ill several months. Elected to congress from the Fourth Washington district in 1918, Summers served seven consecutive terms, being displaced in the 1932 Democratic landslide by Knute Hill.

THE QUESTION IS:
DO SMOKERS APPRECIATE CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCOS?
THE BEST ANSWER IS:
CAMELS ARE THE LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA!



Is it good business to spend millions more for costlier tobaccos? Well, the fact that Camels are the largest-selling cigarette shows that men and women do find something choice—something different—in Camels. Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic.

G. F. DAVIE JR. FUNERAL TO BE HELD TUESDAY

Funeral services for George F. Davie Jr., 27 years old, member of a well known Chicago and South Bend, Ind., family, will be held at 3 p. m. Tuesday in Rosehill cemetery. Earlier services will be held in the forenoon at his residence in South Bend. Mr. Davie was killed in an automobile accident in South Bend Saturday. He was in the bank insurance business. His late father was a founder of the Interstate Iron company. Surviving Mr. Davie are his widow, the former Mary Esther Churchill of Chicago; his mother, Mrs. George F. Davie, of Highland Park; a sister, Mrs. Gertrude D. Wood, also of Highland Park, and a brother, Weston Davie, of Kenilworth.

Girls Prepare for U. S. Field Hocky Tourney

BY JUDITH CASS.

MEMBERS of the field hocky teams that belong to the the North Shore Field Hockey association are practising doubly hard these early fall days because at Thanksgiving time the National Field Hockey association tournament will be held in Winnetka.

Last year a dashing team from Scotland was seen at the Skokie playfield, west of Winnetka, in some of the most stirring matches that have been held here in years. The coming four day tournament, starting on Thanksgiving and lasting through the following Sunday, promises to be even more spectacular and interesting, especially to hocky fans.

Teas and Banquet Planned for Visitors.

When the Scottish players were here last autumn they were guests in Winnetka homes and were kept almost as busy socially as they were on the playing fields, there were so many teas and dinners given for them. The United States Field Hockey association has ruled, however, that in the future its players may not stay in homes, but must be billeted at hotels or clubs. This ruling will not interfere with the entertainment Miss Lucy Jane Hedburg, president of the north shore association, and her committee are planning. There will be a large tea on the opening day, and smaller ones after all the other matches, and a banquet.

Miss Harriet Leonard, vice president of the north shore association, is enjoying what probably will be her last season of hocky here, for she is to be married New Year's day to William Turpin and will live afterward in Indianapolis. Her sister, Mrs. Frode Jensen, has returned home to live after being in New York for more than a year, and is resuming her hocky activities.

Several Practice Three Times a Week.

Miss Ann Jenkins, Miss Josephine Otter, Mrs. Warner Washburn, Miss Betsy, and Miss Sue Ballard, Miss Elizabeth Buchen, Miss Barbara Hobart, Miss Phoebe Massey and her cousin, Miss Henrietta Boal, are some of the young women who have been practising Wednesday afternoons and Saturday and Sunday mornings.

The former Miss Annie Warren Mason, now Mrs. Gilbert B. Smith, will be missing from her team because she is living in California. Mrs. Cecil Crouse has moved to Lake Forest and has not been out for practice this year. Missing also have been Miss Mary Lou Laird, who is too occupied with Service club activities, and Miss Margot Atkin, who still is abroad. She is in Germany just now.

The three teams that play three times a week at the Skokie are called the Indian Hill, the Skokie, and the Lake Shore. The hours for practice are 3:30 o'clock Wednesdays; 9:30 o'clock Saturdays, and an hour later on Sundays.

Arts Club Opens Rooms with Tea Next Monday.

After next Monday the attractive rooms of the Arts club will be open for the season. Luncheon will be served that day, but the formal opening will not be until in the afternoon when, from 4 to 6 o'clock, there will be a tea. Mrs. James Ward Thorne, chairman of the reception committee, will act as hostess. The president, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, will not be at the tea, for she does not return from her summer home at Osterville on Cape Cod until the end of next week.

Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick is sailing for this country on Wednesday after a summer in England and France. She undoubtedly will stop

Miss Dorelle Moulton wears in this picture a hat that was at the height of fashion when it was made for Mrs. Erich Gerstenberg. It now is in the Chicago Historical society's collection of old Chicago costumes. The lace gown Miss Moulton is wearing belongs to the same collection. Miss Moulton is co-chairman, with Miss Florence Hermes and Miss Jean McWilliams of a committee of young women who will assist at the Chicago Arden Shore committee's Lace ball Oct. 9 at the Drake hotel.

Front Views and Profiles

A CHICAGO girl spent the week-end in a small Illinois town recently. One of its citizens, an elderly woman afflicted with recent deafness, was learning to lip-read, and when her daughter returned from the opening of a new grocery store and reported that there had been pipe organ music as part of the festivities, the old lady asked her twice to repeat what she had said.

Deaf—Double Bass Player—Phonetics—Fitting.

"I said they had pipe organ music at the opening," repeated her daughter a third time.

The old lady sighed.

"Well, no matter how many times you say it it still looks to me like you said they had pipe organ music there," she said resignedly.

THE latest acquisition to the Chicago Symphony orchestra is John Klima, from Mount Vernon, Ia., where Dr. Stock and the orchestra have played once a year for thirty-four consecutive years. Klima is a student of Vaclav Jiskra, principal bass. Young Klima was just a year old when Jiskra first visited the Klima home in Mount Vernon. There were two other boys and Jiskra offered to teach any one of the three who desired to be taught—the double bass. James and John fought over the offer for some years, both studied piano, beginning at the age of 7, but John finally won and studied music at Cornell college. James took up art, and is now a sculptor and painter. John, who for the last five years has played with the St. Louis Symphony, fulfills his ambition when he plays with the Chicago Symphony this year.

EVERY one probably has made childish errors in words or phrases he learned orally. When reciting the Lord's prayer in Sunday school, for instance, a child of our acquaintance thought it referred to "the parlor and the glory forever" and imagined heaven as a kind of large parlor with green furniture. Another thought it was "the powder and glory forever" and had something to do with war. One woman was 30 before she realized that the game she had played as a child wasn't Hist By, but I Spy. We ourselves thought it was High Spy. What were some other childish misconceptions, I wonder?

All That's New in Furniture on View This Week

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

National Furniture week is in full swing in all the loop stores and in the outlying and suburban shops as well. It will continue until Saturday. This annual event is designed expressly to show you the new fashions in home furnishings.

You'll find intriguing displays of every sort of equipment for the home, from linoleum, refrigerators, and shining table top stoves for the kitchen, to draperies and wall paper, rugs and furniture for that extra room you are planning in the attic. Rug departments are featuring the handsome, beautifully colored and beautifully textured floor coverings as well as domestic and imported orientals.

Drapery departments are gay with autumn hues in printed linens, chintzes, novelty crashes and wools and with the most gorgeous of brocades, brocatelles, velvets and damasks. Special table settings show the latest chin and glassware.

Almost every store is having special sales of furniture during this week, items their buyers have been collecting for this celebration. One long established furniture company has just opened an entire two story colonial house erected in the main floor of its building.

Stepping into the entrance hall you see furniture, draperies, rugs and accessories arranged just as you would have them in your own home. The dining room, on the right, has a dashing color scheme of yellow, green and white. On the white wall paper are graceful garlands of trailing ivy. The windows are hung in stunning light yellow ribbed taffeta with swag valances.

At the long mahogany dining table are host chairs at head and foot. They are upholstered in printed linen in yellow and green design and furnish a charming contrast to the Sheraton side chairs and to the mahogany china cabinet, side table and buffet.

The living room, to the left of the hall, is carried out in soft tones of gray, green and apricot. Walls are pale gray, the carpeting a jade green, and a pair of handsome armchairs are upholstered in a striped fabric in apricot or peach and green. A beautiful, slender couch, a copy of one in the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, is green, like the floor covering.

A smart feature of one of the bedrooms on the second floor is a delightful wall paper which gives the appearance of quilted chintz. It shows rose and green blossoms on a white ground, with a raised effect. The furniture here is mahogany in the federal period and is most livable and attractive.

California furniture is being featured during National Furniture week by another establishment. In the living room of a model house completely furnished in this style we were impressed by a pair of end tables, flanking a couch. Each of the tables was finished in a soft, light yellow antique effect and decorated with naïve hand-painted flower clusters. And there was a huge round coffee table.

This furniture, besides being the "something different" a lot of women are seeking, is sturdy, solidly built, and inexpensive. Its finish is unique. You'll not see it on any other line of furniture in the city.

This store is also featuring a row of rooms done in early American maple. A bedroom with white walls, red and white cotton draperies, and a deep blue candlewick bedspread is especially good looking. These vivid colors set off the deep tones of the maple to advantage.

Looking at Hollywood

Disturbin' Durbin

BY ED SULLIVAN.

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 26.—"And a little child shall lead them" has been substantiated Biblically and cinematically. If you think not, remember hurriedly the important contributions to art and cash box of Shirley Temple, Deanna Durbin, Freddie Bartholomew, Bobby Breen, Jane Withers, Bonita Granville, Mickey Rooney, and others of the celluloid kindergarten. Dave Selznick has still another, Tommy Kelly, of New York's Bronx, who promises to become celebrated after the release of "Tom Sawyer."

Deanna Durbin.

But the subject of today's sermon is the success story that has been given fresh life by Deanna Durbin, the 14 year old sensation of "100 Men and a Girl," which is doing a land-office business all over the country.

The 14 year old heroine of "100 Men and a Girl" has had at least 100 men in her life. The moving van man who moved the Durbin family from Winnipeg, Man., to Los Angeles about thirteen years ago. The agent, Jack Sherrill, an émigré from Atlanta, Ga., who heard her singing in a music class and signed her to a contract. The man at MGM who preferred Judy Garland to her, and finally turned the Durbin lass loose. Rufus Le Maire, at Universal, who heard her sing and signed her to a contract faster than you can say Rufus Le Maire. Eddie Cantor, who gave her a vast radio audience. Henry Koster, the German director, who started out by threatening to resign from his post if she were in "Three Smart Girls" and wound up by vaulting to page 1 on the strength of the Durbin-Koster partnership.

Then there was Joe Pasternack, who produced "Three Smart Girls" on a comparatively tiny budget of $300,000 and evolved a box office smash that grossed about $1,600,000.

"From the time I was so high," Deanna told me over the lunch table, "I could sing. I really don't deserve a tremendous amount of credit. God made me a singer and I just sang." Director Koster passed the table and she pointed to him: "He deserves most of the credit. Those little things he puts into the picture, like the feather on my hat just showing over the tops of the seats during Mr. Stokowski's rehersal, and then when Mr. Stokowski is calling for the caretaker, Marshall, to take me out, Mr. Koster suggested that I call Marshall too, not knowing I was calling the very man I was hiding from.

"These touches are marvelous. Mr. Stokowski, you know, insisted that the caretaker be named Marshall—that's the real name of the man in charge at Philadelphia and Mr. Stokowski said that the Philadelphia man would get a great kick out of it."

Deanna this year will earn about $150,000. Her salary is $1,250 a week and Universal officials tell me that she will earn about $100,000 in sponsoring children's coats and hats and in indorsements of foods and soaps and such. This in addition to her radio programs. Just two years ago the Durbin family was broke. The youngster haunted the Trocadero on Sunday nights to get the opportunity to display her talents before the Troc gathering of film biggies. It was there that Rufus Le Maire heard her sing.

With the Universal contract unsigned in his pocket, Agent Sherrill took her to Mervyr Le Roy at Warner's—he had promised Le Roy to contact him before signing any papers. Le Roy called Le Maire on the telephone: "Are you after Deanna Durbin, Rufus?" said Mervyn, Hollywood's public ribber No. 1. "I've got her signed," said Rufus. "That's impossible," said Le Roy, "She's here in my office, just tore up your contract and signed with me." Charlie Rogers and Rufus let out a piercing scream that carried to Los Angeles, and as the echoes died away Le Roy told them he was only kidding.

Tony Martin's in This Movie and He's Tops

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

You won't remember much about the plot of "Sing and Be Happy," but you WILL think long and fondly of Tony Martin's performance in the picture.

Not so long ago this dark, sunshiny [looks funny, doesn't it?] young fellow stepped quietly forth from a band he was leading—and sang. I didn't know him from Adam, but I DID know that he had Rudy Vallee beat—and, I believe, said so. Apparently others felt the same way, for since that picture—can't recollect the name—Tony has been more and more featured.

NOW, I'd say, all he needs is a humdinger of a story to make him a star with a sort of double-header—Robert Taylor-Bing Crosby—appeal.

He is discovered as the irresponsible band leader son of a wealthy advertising man father. Papa puts skids under the musical career and Buzz Mason is brought home from the coast to saw wood in Dad Mason's business.

The latter's most formidable rival is the father of the girl Buzz loves.

Well, to tunes [not so hot], dances, and some goshawful would-be comedy, perpetrated by Joan Davis and Chick Chandler [Chick wouldn't be so bad alone], the rivals lock horns. Romance rocks perilously. However, at the last, the wash all comes out clean in an unbelievable radio show. [Forgive the muddled metaphors.]

There are a lot of new faces in this piece—and new faces are always interesting.

But, really, the only reason there is to sing and be happy about this movie is because Tony Martin's in it

And may luck go wid him!

See you tomorrow!

Warns Early Buyer Gets the Best Models

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The best shoppers know only too well that outstanding models of any new collection, in any season, vanish in record time. Stalling about buying the models you like now invariably means disappointment later in the season when you optimistically return to spend your money. So we're warning you. Buy your black coats now. The first arrivals are extremely sleek and distinguished in streamline and have sensibly full shoulder lines and easy fitting sleeves.

But it's the way fur is applied that marks them as this year's vintage. No longer is fine fur applied with abandon. There are no more of the great hunks of fur that for no good reason, formerly were used to trim the best coats. Bands of fur now are cleverly turned around collar, lapel or hemline, and are perfect foils for dull black suede materials.

One showing stresses long lines, the fabric being cut in fitted silhouettes to show the fine textures and weaves. Long tuxedo collars of smooth and fluffy furs keep them slim. One dull black wool has a double band of silver fox, streaking down the front and turning at the neckline to meet at the center back. Another has three inch bands of satin smooth Persian lamb, which go around the front hemline from side seam to side seam and end at the waistline. The narrow bands are repeated around the cuffs.

"Find This Girl"

BY ROY VICKERS [Copyright: 1937: By Roy Vickers.]

SYNOPSIS.

Bessie Mersand, a nurse, is acquitted of the charge of administering a fatal dose of medinal to an elderly patient. After the trial, as Bessie Mathews, she is given a job by Gwynneth Bentley, caring for Gwynneth's invalid husband. Gwynneth plans to kill her husband and plant the blame on Bessie, so that she can marry her lover, Roy Gleason. Medinal tablets are placed in Bessie's charge. Gwynneth hides a valuable jeweled dagger, then puts the ground medinal tablets in her husband's food. She then gives Bessie the day off. In London Bessie meets her friend, Jim Watkin, who has learned of the crime. He hides Bessie. Jim visits Gwynneth for clews. A trowel in her hands gives him a hint: the dagger is buried in the garden. He warns her the garden will be dug up, then sets a private detective to watch. Gwynneth sees through his plan. She trails him to Bessie and forces her to go with her, and stay with a deaf woman at Rose cottage. She tricks Bessie into digging up the dagger. Bessie is caught, but escapes and hides in the Bentley loft. Sneaking down for food Bessie overhears Jim denouncing her to Gwynneth. Bessie flees in Jim's car to Rose cottage, where Gwynneth finds her. Bessie threatens to give herself up and implicate Gwynneth for hiding her. Frightened, Gwynneth forces Roy into a hasty marriage and plans to flee the country. Jim tricks Gwynneth into returning to Rose cottage.

INSTALMENT XLIII.

CAUGHT.

"Don't be absurd, Roy!" Gwynneth saw then what she must do. "Mr. Watkin is quite right. I'm terribly sorry—but I really do want you to wait at the club."

Jim Watkin went to the office and hired a car, saying that he wished to speak to the chauffeur.

With the latter his methods were quick and, by nature, infallible.

"Do you know what this is?" he asked, and displayed a five pound note. "You do. Then just take it and put it in your pocket and listen to me. You are about to drive a lady to an address in Surrey. You'll have to put her down somewhere—it will be near the village of Little Whiddon. Directly she gets out, you'll drive back to Little Whiddon postoffice, where I shall be waiting for you. You'll have one call to make, which will be very near the postoffice, and then you're through."

"Right you are, sir!" said the chauffeur and repeated the instructions. And, of course, the lady is not to know what is going on."

"You've guessed it, laddie."

Unobtrusively Jim Watkin hung about until Gwynneth had started in the car, leaving Gleason behind. Then he showed himself.

Gleason advanced upon him aggressively.

"I would like to know why the devil you consider yourself entitled to mix yourself up in my wife's affairs."

"And if you aren't thundering careful, my good man, I'll tell you!" retorted Watkin. "I don't bear you any malice, though I don't like your style, so I won't tell you unless you insist."

"Then you're improving. Good-by!"

Jim strolled over to the car park, got into his own two-seater, and headed for Little Whiddon—the car which Bessie had used in her flight from Uplands, and which had been found abandoned outside the village of Little Whiddon.

When the police had notified him that the car had been found he had professed that he had left it there himself—and a summons was impending for unlawful parking.

He reasoned that Bessie must have used the car to drive herself within walking distance of her retreat. Discreet investigations had failed to reveal her whereabouts. He had felt unable to pursue his normal method of inquiry for fear of attracting the police prematurely to Bessie.

In half an hour he saw that hired car ahead of him and slowed down. He had no need to trail the car—had better not do so, as Gwynneth would probably keep a keen watch out of the back window.

At a quarter to 4 he was drawing up outside Little Whiddon postoffice. By the time he had finished writing a note the hired car appeared.

"The lady had me drop her at a cottage up a lane—Rose cottage, it's called—and the lane's about three-quarters of a mile off the main road along there! You can't miss it, sir!"

"Rose cottage—thanks!" said Watkin. "There's just one thing more I want you to do for me." He handed him the note. "Wait for five minutes exactly after I'm gone. And then deliver this note—just over there."

The man looked at the address on the envelope and grinned.

"Very good, sir! And that's all you want for your five pun note?"

"That's every bit of it. But don't stint me on the five minutes."

In spite of the wireless set and the books, Bessie was finding life at the cottage extremely monotonous. Her exercise was restricted to pottering in the garden. And even then she had to beat a retreat whenever a footstep sounded in the lane.

With so little occupation there was no ease to her melancholy and the hopelessness of her position. If no one found her she would have to stay indefinitely at the cottage. But, as far as she could see now, it was a suspension of her life—she was simply in a comfortable prison. For Jim Watkin had turned against her and was no longer working to establish her innocence.

There was added bitterness in the knowledge that she loved a man who now believed in her guilt and despised her.

Then, with a little shiver of horror, she saw that the case against her was stronger than ever. If Jim Watkin believed she had stolen and hidden the rajah's dagger, a jury of strangers would be sure to think it, too. It would seem to prove a motive for killing Alfred Bentley.

She heard a car draw up in the lane and slipped into the cottage. When she saw Gwynneth emerge she was almost glad. At least it meant a temporary relief from her loneliness. For Mrs. Kent, with her difficulty of speech, could hardly be called a companion.

Gwynneth greeted her with an angry flush.

"What do you mean by sending me that telegram?" she demanded. "What is the 'important development'?"

"I don't know what you're talking about," said Bessie. "I haven't sent you any telegram."

It was ten minutes or more before the cross-purpose had been discovered.

"Then who did send the telegram?" demanded Gwynneth. "Some one must have sent it to Ledbourne." . . . Then as the inevitable suspicion broke: "It looks to me like a trap." A car was heard in the lane. "If it is—I'm caught in it."

The next moment a tall man was opening the wicket gate. Gwynneth watched him behind the curtain.

"James Watkin!" she gasped. "O! I see it now—he sent the telegram. Somehow he must have found Little Whiddon——"

Jim Watkin had walked in through the open front door and now stood facing them in the parlor.

"You did this! You sent that telegram!" shrilled Gwynneth.

"Quite right! Hullo, Bessie! A pity you pulled my leg, wasn't it?" He thrust himself between her and Gwynneth. "A fine fool you've made out of me—reckon you had the laugh of your life when I told you I loved you."

He was standing over her in a menacing attitude, his back to Gwynneth. And because his back was to Gwynneth he allowed himself to indulge in a prodigious and violent winking.

"I don't suppose I'm the first man you've fooled." He was contorting his whole face into the wink, while Bessie stared at him in amazement and slowly realized that the wink could only mean that she was to read some other meaning into his words. But what?

"You thought me a fine sucker—and so I was until you went for the rajah's dagger. But you've done it once too often, my girl. I don't mind telling you I've sent for the police and they'll be here in a few minutes."

Gwynneth's voice cut across this tirade.

"You're a clown, Jim Watkin! You're winking at Bessie. I can see your face in the mirror. You simply used this as a trick to find her. You send for the police indeed! It's the last thing you'd do."

"Nevertheless, I've done it," said Jim. "Look there!"

Faded Summer Tan in Need of Bleaching Aid

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

When that beautiful summer tan begins to fade, leaving a rather sallow looking skin, it is well to hurry along the whitening process with a bleach. Of bleaches there are many effective ones. Fruit and vegetable juices are popular. Cucumber lotions and buttermilk are harmless bleaches very easily applied. Just wash the face and neck with them at bedtime. The juice of a lemon rubbed over the face is effective, or you may add the lemon juice to milk and get the benefits to be derived from both the milk and lemon.

Peroxide of hydrogen is bleaching, but it must be diluted before using, and care used that the eyelashes and brows are not subjected to a bleaching at the same time. Glycerine is another product which has bleaching qualities and at the same time leaves the skin smooth and clear.

And there are masks. Almond meal, lemon juice and an egg make an effective mask. The milk and egg are both slightly astringent, so in addition to the benefits of a bleaching and whitening the mixture tightens and tones sagging muscles. A simple mask is made with two tablespoons of cooked oatmeal, four tablespoons of glycerine, and two of rose water. Blend the ingredients to a thin paste and spread on thin muslin or gauze before applying to the face. A variation of this mask is made with corn meal or almond meal mixed to a paste with milk or buttermilk, and applied in the same way.

A mask treatment leaves the skin clear and velvety smooth. It's excellent for a pickup treatment as well. When you're feeling weary and wan after a hard day and you have an important dinner or evening engagement, allow enough time for a mask treatment. You lie down while the mask is hardening and during that period you may enjoy complete relaxation.

These bleaches are effective for the toning down of freckles. Keep in mind that bleaches are more or less drying to the skin and after their use feed the skin a good cream.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Some of the most exquisite—and true—floral perfumes the world knows come from England. You don't hear much about them, but for years they have been beloved by a discriminating group of women both in this country and in Europe.

They are triumphs of the fine art of capturing the true fragrance of a flower. The English violet, for example, is indescribably beautiful. It doesn't have a trace of that sugary, marshmallowish overtone that makes the inferior violet perfume an inferior scent indeed! It's rich and woodsy, with depth as well as delicacy. One of the most important actresses in the country told us she couldn't live without it. It's the perfect scent for her charming personality and her own particular trick of costuming—lots of simple black clothes with lacy white touches.

If violet isn't to your taste, but other floral scents are, there are special beauties for you. The rose geranium, for example. There's a scent with subtlety, softness, and spice, all in one.

There's a lovely, luscious honeysuckle, a very blithe, beautiful hyacinth and [though this, if we remember correctly, would have to be ordered specially—few if any shops have it] a fine, interesting "Russian Leather."

If you're the sort of woman who wants to be different in her perfume choices these are scents you should look up. They're truly perfect in their fashion—with impressive fidelity to the flowers for which they are named.

ELEANOR NANGLE.

Service Club Dispatches Revue Bids to Young Men.

In this morning's mail several dozen young men about town will receive from the Service club formal invitations to take part in the club's twenty-third annual revue to be held at the Auditorium theater Nov. 6.

The selected young men are invited further to be present at the first rehersal, Oct. 4, at the Towertown club, with their invitations in hand.

At present the list of young women, newcomers to the club, who will be taking part in the revue includes nineteen names. They are Miss Remor and Miss Velma Bauman, daughters of the Danish consul in Chicago, Reimund Bauman and Mrs. Bauman; Miss Barbara Emerson, Miss Eleanor Reid, Miss Ellen Munster, who is engaged to be married to Richard L. Williams Jr.; Miss Marjorie Burnham, Miss Lucy Ramsey, Miss Florence Walsh, Miss Patricia Kelly, and Miss Virginia Hodges, who are debutantes of a year ago; Miss Betsy and Miss Sue Ballard and Miss Peggy Sargent, who are at home in Winnetka, having finished their college careers; and Miss Dorothy Benedict, Miss Cynthia Cleveland, Miss Eleanor Wilson, Miss Louise Galbraith, Miss Barbara Hess, and Miss Ann Loeber, who are debutantes of the season.

Helen Lynch Engaged to Wed J. N. Kelly Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard W. Lynch of Kenilworth gave a tea Saturday at their home in Melrose street to announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to James Nelson Kelly, son of Mrs. J. Nelson Kelly of Minneapolis. Miss Lynch attended St. Mary's college at Notre Dame and was graduated last year from Mundelein college. Mr. Kelly was graduated from Taft and also attended Yale.

By cable their friends here have learned of the marriage of Miss Joselyn Norie and Harry Wilmerding on Sept. 18 in England. The wedding took place at the home of Miss Norie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Malden Wynch, in Camberly, Surrey.

Mr. Wilmerding went abroad early in September to join Miss Norrie, who has spent the summer in England, and they are expected to return to Chicago early in October. Miss Norie came here five years ago as an instructor for the Needlework and Textile guild. The guild is reopening its headquarters at the Art institute Friday.

Donald B. Dodd to Wed Eastern Girl Tomorrow.

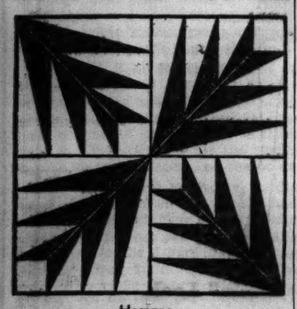
Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Dodd and their son, Donald Bishop Dodd, and their daughters, Mrs. David B. Richardson of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Harris B. Burrows III. of Evanston, left Friday for Chester, Pa., to attend the wedding tomorrow of young Mr. Dodd to Miss Helen Irving. The Dodd twins, Lois [Mrs. Richardson] and Helen [Mrs. Burrows], who were wed in a double ceremony two years ago, are to be matrons of honor for their future sister-in-law.

Miss Irving, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Irving of Chester, will have her sister, Miss Eleanor Irving, for her maid of honor, and Harvey King Maclay of Chicago is to be best man. The wedding will take place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at St. Paul's church, and a reception will follow at the Irving home.

Mary Crane League Lays Plans Today for Ball.

A committee of the Mary Crane league, meeting at 10 o'clock today in the home of Mrs. William M. Kinney, 126 Abingdon road, Kenilworth, will discuss plans for the organization's annual Snow ball, to be held Nov. 27 in the Drake hotel. Mrs. Paul C. Fleer of Evanston is president of the league, which supports a nursery school at Hull house. Among the women on the committee for the party are Mrs. Kinney and Mrs. H. R. Taecker, chairman and co-chairman, and Mrs. Robert E. Spaeth.

Religious Book Inspiration for This Quilt Block



Hosanna.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"The Book of Common Prayer," so revered by our religious colonial ancestors, furnished the inspiration for this lovely pieced block. It has been a favorite for centuries and its popularity continues unabated among quilt makers. Last year at the Woman's Pageant of Progress held at Navy pier a "Hosanna" quilt won first prize in the quilt exhibition. It was done in soft green and white. Not only the needlework on the patches, but also the quilting and design were exquisite, and the quilt well deserved its blue ribbon. The "Hosanna" block measures 10 inches square, and the coverlet is composed entirely of pieced blocks surrounded by a 10 inch border.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

OPENING SUIT AND NO TRUMP SLAM TRIES.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

A rare and unusual group of slam tries occurs in the higher levels of opening suit and no trump bids. These bids include opening no trump bids of three, four, five, and six, and opening suit bids of five and six.

The Three No Trump Bid.

Technically, the opening three no trump bid is a game bid. More accurately, it is a slam bid if partner has even the sketchiest of supporting values. An opening bid of three no trump shows between seven and eight honor tricks and, much more than the opening one and two no trump bids, is strictly limited to 4-3-3-3 distribution. The opening three no trump bid ranges from the following minimum:
♠ A K 6 ♥ A K 5 ♦ A K 6 ♣ A 8 6 2
—seven bare honor tricks; or
♠ A K 6 ♥ A K 5 ♦ K Q J ♣ K Q 10 7
—six and one-half honor tricks with eight reasonably sure winners, up to the following maximum:
♠ A K J ♥ A Q J 7 ♦ A K J ♣ A K J
—eight and one-half honor tricks.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
2 spades	Pass	4 diamonds	Pass
4 spades	Pass	6 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I was West. After a long huddle, I picked out the diamond three as my opening lead. A glance at all the hands will show you what a killing opening this should have been. If declarer puts up dummy's ace, he is virtually committed to a cross-ruff, but he will not 'last.' One diamond can be discarded on the heart king and two clubs ruffed, but this will leave declarer with a losing diamond and a losing club.

"A comfortable way to play the hand is, of course, to establish dummy's hearts. But what good will that do if dummy has no final entry for their cashing? At any rate, declarer played low from the dummy, probably to give us a chance to go wrong, and O, boy, did we oblige him!

"East won with the diamond king and made a return—well, when I describe it as 'fat-headed,' I am merely confessing myself inadequate to the situation. He returned the club king! Maybe he thought that I had the ace. Maybe he thought that declarer had been 'psyching' all through the bidding, or, most likely, maybe he just didn't think. At any rate, from that time on all we could do was follow suit. Declarer won, ruffed out the heart suit, drew trumps, and used that miraculously preserved diamond ace as an entry for the three good hearts.

"If my partner had been gifted with half a brain instead of only a short quarter, the marked diamond return would have settled the declarer's hash. The diamond ace would have been removed long before it could have become valuable.

"Now, come on, Mr. Culbertson, do I deserve a bucket of tears, or don't I? Remember, it isn't every day that I make a killing opening lead against a slam!

"Heart-brokenly yours,
"M. A. L., Brooklyn."

Yes, I concede the point. If this article were not already so long I would weep with my correspondent for at least another paragraph.

Apples to eat raw, apples to bake in a pie, apples to cut up for use in salads, apples for sauce, and apples for apple sauce cake. There are plenty of what keeps the doctor away in the markets. Plenty for cooking and canning, plenty for salads and sauces, and plenty for cakes.

Apple sauce cakes come in two general types, the cake which has apple sauce in it, and the one which has apple sauce between its layers. The former often will keep as long as two weeks.

One Egg Apple Sauce Cake.

[Small loaf cake.]

1¾ cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cloves
½ cup butter, margarine, or vegetable fat
1 cup sugar
1 beaten egg
1 cup raisins or currants
1 cup chopped nuts
¾ cup thick hot apple sauce, strained

Sift flour with other dry ingredients four times. Cream butter or other shortening well, add sugar gradually, and cream until light and fluffy. Add well beaten egg, nuts, and raisins. If raisins are used cut them fine and flour them. Add flour mixture alternately with apple sauce, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Bake in a greased loaf pan, 7 by 5 by 3 inches, at 350 degrees for about an hour.

Caramel Frosting for Apple Sauce Cake.

1½ cups firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup white sugar
½ cup evaporated milk
½ cup water
1 tablespoon butter

Place sugars, evaporated milk, and water in sauce pan and cook to 232 degrees, or soft ball stage. Add butter, remove from heat, and cool to room temperature. Beat until thick and creamy and spread over cake. Decorate with pecan halves or chopped nuts.

Apple Sauce Spice Cake.

[Two nine inch layers.]

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cloves
½ cup butter, margarine, or other fat
1 cup sugar
2 beaten eggs
3 tablespoons molasses
7 tablespoons cold coffee

Sift flour and other dry ingredients together three or four times. Cream butter well, add sugar a little at a time, and beat together until fluffy. Add beaten eggs and molasses and beat well. Add flour alternately with coffee, a small amount at a time, and beat until smooth after each addition. Pour into two greased layer pans and bake at 375 degrees for about 30 minutes. Spread sweetened apple sauce between the layers and cover the top layer with confectioner's icing. Coffee flavor may be used.

Uncooked Coffee Icing for Apple Sauce Spice Cake.

3 tablespoons butter
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons strong coffee
Approximately 2 cups sifted confectioner's sugar

Cream butter, add the salt and half the confectioner's sugar, blending well. Add coffee and remaining sugar alternately, and beat until the mixture is of spreading consistency.

For the Miss and Matron

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Slim lines predominate in this attractive daytime frock for miss and matron. If you're slender, the deft paneling of this model will accentuate your splendid silhouette. If you're a little on the plump side nobody will ever know it, because this dress gives you height and slim contours.

The original of this is created in crinkle crêpe in the new slate blue shade. It has a panel front, from throat to hem, that ends in graceful plaits. Shirring at the shoulders gives a softly draped bodice. The sleeves, which may be either long or short, are puffed at the shoulderline.

All silk crêpes, soft woolens and velvet make up well. This dress allows for great variety of treatment. If you choose to make the frock of one color you may use buttons and a clip or nosegay to give it life. The sketch at the right shows what may be done with color contrast. The panel may be made in a shade lighter than the frock, and harmonizing with it.

Style No. 2764 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material.

Jugo-Slav Orchestra Pleases Throng at Jubilee Celebration

A tamburitsa orchestra, composed of stringed instruments played by seven persons in the native dress of the Jugo-Slavs for intricate homeland dance steps was one of the features liked best by the throng estimated at 20,000 persons which attended Jugo-Slav day celebration, under the auspices of the Chicago Charter Jubilee committee at the Seventh Regiment armory, 34th street and Wentworth avenue, yesterday afternoon.

More than 200 persons in colorful costume presented the program, Croatian, Serbian, and Slovene singing societies sang.

One of the tableaus was that of the signing of the American constitution, showing how that document encouraged the Jugo-Slavs in Europe in their struggle for liberty.

The wedding will take place at Christmas time.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Eleanor Lapham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lyon Lapham of La Grange, to Harry Robert Henry Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robert Henry of Detroit, Mich. The wedding is planned for Nov. 27 in Emmanuel church, La Grange.

Fathers Must Have Patience with Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Fathers and children are much of the time in hot water, or constantly at odds, when the children are around 8, 9, 10, 11. Particularly with their sons at this stage some fathers become very quick, irritable, impatient, and demanding. They become demanding just at a time when their boys are least able to respond. Their impatience grows in proportion to their sons' heedlessness and irresponsibility, and unfits them to deal wisely with the boys.

Sharp reproofs are quite apt to take the place of interest. Often father and son drift away from each other, just when they could be having such good times together and when the boy could be learning to "open up" about so many things [mental, emotional, spiritual] that a father should be "in on."

Serious conflicts can develop at this age between a boy and his father and can carry over into the teens, spoiling the fine closeness that can mean so much to a man and his son as the latter himself approaches manhood.

Most of this trouble comes from a lack of understanding. If you are a father and you haven't been able to think it all out for yourself, you might find something to help you in yesterday's article, based on very first-hand experience.

Or you might find equally practical our little booklet called "Living With Our In-Betweens"—the children from 6 to 12. It will be sent out on receipt of a 3 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Two flower arrangers, skilled in the art, are on hand this week to advise and assist in your selection.

Artificial Flowers, Seventh Floor.

Good "Basic" Qualities

$29.95

Though this dress has its own rhinestone ornament and uses shirring in a panel down the front—it is, in effect, a basic dress, for the ornament may be removed and other accents substituted. It is of crepe in ribbon blue or black. Sizes 36 to 44.

"All-Line, No Detail"

$29.95

That's Carson's definition of a basic dress—and this one has proven its success. Of a crepe that drapes beautifully, it may be worn with different accessories. Shirring is the source of skillfully distributed fullness. Black only. 36 to 44. 16½ to 24½.

Fringe and More Fringe

$22.95

Rows and rows of it encircle this crepe frock—all the way from the neckline to the hem. It's a frock that shows off to equal advantage at a bridge party and a restaurant dinner. Black, brown, flirt blue, Renoir green. 12 to 18.

The "Laced-In" Look

$17.95

A "noon-to-midnight" frock that will be a busy member of your wardrobe. The shirring, the draped neck with its brilliant ornament, and the long fitted sleeves are up-to-the-minute details. Bagdad blue, black, mink brown. 14 to 20.

CUBS BREAK EVEN; SOX WIN DOUBLE-HEADER

EAGLES' PASS TIES CARDS IN LAST MINUTE, 6 TO 6

CARTER TAKES 55 YARD TOSS FOR TOUCHDOWN

Chicago Scores on Plunge in First.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 26.—[Special.]—The Chicago Cardinals, with victory in their hands, became a little careless in the last few minutes of their National Football league game with Philadelphia today and, instead of going home with a triumph over the Eagles, left with a 6 to 6 tie. A crowd of 10,000 watched the game.

Hal Pangle.

The Cardinals' touchdown came early in the first quarter when Conway Baker, a tackle, blocked Emmett Mortell's kick on the Eagles' 40 yard line. He recovered the ball and ran to the Eagles' 10 yard line before being caught.

Doug Russell and George Grosvenor plunged to the one inch line in three plays. Then Hal Pangle hit guard for the score. Earl Nolan, who went in to kick the extra point, failed to get the ball off the ground.

Game Becomes Kicking Duel.

The game then developed into a kicking duel between Grosvenor of the Cardinals and Emmett Mortell and Dave Smukler for the Eagles.

With three minutes to play in the fourth period the Eagles obtained possession of the ball on an intercepted pass. Smukler failed to find a receiver on two long passes, but finally tossed one 55 yards down field on fourth down with nine to go. Four Cardinals and Joe Carter, a former Texas league ball player playing right end for the Eagles, jumped for the oval. When they were untangled Carter had the ball and a touchdown. The play was good for a net gain of 31 yards and climaxed a 47 yard advance.

Smukler's Kick Fails.

Only one minute and ten seconds remained to play. Smukler's placement kick was wide and the Eagles had a 6 to 6 tie.

The Cardinals then took the kickoff and after Grosvenor had called two plays the gun barked ending the game.

Statistics of the battle:

Yards gained rushing	103	97
Forward passes attempted	17	32
Forward passes completed	8	11

GIANTS, 10; PIRATES, 7

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Taldon [Tillie] Manton place kicked a field goal from the corner of Forbes field today to give the New York Giants a 10 to 7 victory over the hitherto undefeated Pittsburgh Pirates in a National Professional Football league game.

The field goal came early in the final period after the Pirates had stopped a fifty-eight yard New York march on the 5 yard line. The crowd of more than 33,000 stood in silence as Manton made a perfect placement from a point eleven yards out and ten yards from the right sideline.

Full Back John Karcis fumbled on the Pittsburgh 33 yard line in the second to give the Giants a scoring break. Ed Danowski passed to Burnett on the 13, then tossed another pass to Kink Richards for the touchdown. Manton place-kicked the point.

The Pirates tied the score in the third quarter after Ed Brett had blocked a punt on New York's 13 and a pass interference penalty moved the ball down to the 6 yard line. Karcis plunged over right tackle for the

OHIO OR PURDUE CHIEF CHALLENGE TO MINNESOTA

And Boilermakers May Surprise Buckeyes.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Columbus, O., Sept. 26.—First returns from the football season now have been tabulated and from this data a syllabus of prophecy may be drawn. Different interpretations of the facts, however, will result in varying predictions.

The major problem for prediction is the outcome of the Purdue-Ohio State game here next Saturday, the opening conference contest of the season. Under consideration are Ohio State's unimpressive rainy day victory over Texas Christian, 14 to 0, and Purdue's easy conquest of Butler, 33 to 7.

T. C. U. Attack Faulty.

Victory had been forecast for both of these Big Ten teams, but Ohio State was more impressive in its defense against the boys from Fort Worth, than in the means employed to score two touchdowns. The rain, which fell almost incessantly, undoubtedly was a handicap to the fancy passing plans of Davey O'Brien and his southern mates. But a more important criticism may be leveled at Texas Christian's method of attack, a double wing back formation, from which neither Full Back Lacy McClanahan nor Quarter Back O'Brien ever had fair opportunity to crack the Buckeye line. In lieu of blockers, T. C. U. depended on delayed plunges. The intended deception failed to deceive and the delay permitted Ohio State to mass its defenders.

Effectiveness against Texas Christian does not mean that Ohio State necessarily will be effective against Purdue. Purdue's attack will be faster. Its spin plays develop more quickly, and in Cecil Isbell the Buckeyes will meet a better passer and a speedier runner than any member of the T. C. U. team.

Has Few Top Substitutes.

Ohio State has few first grade substitutes. Its backs are straight line runners. In Howard Wedebrook and Mike Kabealo, the Buckeyes have two fair kickers. Their passing is average. Kabealo's touchdown pass to Jim Miller was an elemental maneuver which employed no deception or change in direction by the receiver. The defensive half back was entirely to blame for sucess of the play.

Purdue's line, of course, was not thoroughly tested by Butler's inadequate attack. Purdue's forte probably is its offense. Apparently Sophomore Ted Hennis will share the burden of directing the team. His work yesterday certainly will bear comparison with the generalship of Jim McDonald and Nick Wasylik of Ohio.

Since this game will be played at Columbus, it may be called an even affair. It will be mildly surprising, however, if Purdue doesn't whip Ohio State. To the victor belongs the right to challenge Minnesota for the Big Ten title.

Gophers Still Choice.

Who will stop Minnesota? In the victory over North Dakota State, 69 to 7, the Gophers showed power, speed, and down field blocking. Despite the fact that the opposition was inferior, you still must write Minnesota down as the outstanding choice for the conference race. Nebraska on Saturday is just the opponent Minnesota needs to offset overconfidence.

Iowans should feel gratified at the showing of the Hawkeyes at Seattle although they were beaten 14 to 0. That the Huskies, defending champions in the Pacific Coast conference, could not score along the ground offsets the disappointment that Iowa's line could not provide openings for counterscores, although Iowa twice was within Washington's 10 yard line.

Nile Kinnick, sophomore quarter back, kicker and passer, promises to develop into one of the new stars of

DON'T EVER THINK THAT GIANTS GET JITTERS IN PINCH

They Whip the Dodgers in Ninth, 4 to 3.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 26.—Mull over your statistics all you want, but the reason the New York Giants are ahead of the Chicago Cubs in what once was called the 1937 National league pennant race is found in the fact that the Giants do not have a habit of swooning in the late innings.

This difference was demonstrated here this afternoon for the steenth time since the Cubs blew a five run ninth inning lead at the Polo Grounds on Aug. 25, said demonstration coming instantly after knowledge of another Cub faint in the first game at St. Louis. When the scoreboard showed the Cubs to be leading the Cards in St. Louis, 4 to 2, at the end of eight innings, the Giants were trailing the miserable Dodgers, 2 to 0, held to three singles in six innings by Waite Hoyt, one of the few batters on the Dodgers despite his 38 years of life and 20 years in the majors.

And Here's How They Work.

Then they posted the St. Louis final score. The Cubs had swallowed their tonsils once more. A great cheer went up from the assembled 26,044 paying guests. And the Giants went to work, eventually to win, 4 to 3.

Within three minutes they had switched the 2 to 0 Brooklyn advantage to a 3 to 2 margin for themselves. The tying run and the one that put the Giants ahead were driven home on a double by Sam Leslie, batting for Hal Schumacher.

Schumacher having given way to Leslie, the Giants decided to try to skin by with one of those terrible fat men, Don Brennan. Brennan allowed the Dodgers to tie the score by hitting a batsman, walking a batsman, letting them advance on an infield out and one of them score on a wild pitch.

Melton to the Rescue.

Even though Manager Terry wasn't on the premises he had a man on the job who knew when to substitute a pitcher and with whom. Cliff Melton came in and the Dodgers were through offensively for the rest of the game.

The game ended when Lou Chiozza, first Giant up in the ninth, nicked Fred Frankhouse for a homer.

The Giants face the dangerous Boston Bees in double-headers tomorrow and Tuesday. Was a time when many thought these two games were fraught with danger for the Giant cause. But these same folk probably wouldn't be alarmed now if the Giants lost all four games to the Bees. Some folks about the Polo Grounds openly say that there are only two Cub pitchers and three other players who have any stomach for the tough going and that if the margin should tighten up again the Chicagoans would cough their way into arrears once more.

Cardinals Take Opener in 9th, 6-5; Cubs Win 2d, 8-5

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 26.—The thread by which the Cubs are clinging to their mathematical pennant chance is getting weaker. The fellow known as Joe Medwick brought it closer to the snapping point this afternoon when with a ninth inning double he cleaned up a full house and boosted the Cardinals to a 6 to 5 triumph in the first half of a double-header. Then the Cubs bounced back with an 8 to 5 eight inning victory, but they lost a half lap on their day's labors and now trail the Giants by four games.

A fadeout by Bill Lee, who had been more or less brilliant for eight innings was responsible for the first game debacle that hurried the inevitable conclusion of the National league race. Until the final inning Lee had prospered with a seven hit performance. But without warning in the ninth the Cards turned loose a blast of three hits garnished by a pass. Then with one run home, two out and three on the bases, Clay Bryant was called to the rescue. Medwick immediately did his stuff.

Weiland's Wildness Helps.

Although the Cubs weren't exactly tough with their bats in the opening argument, their hit total being five, they managed their affairs pretty well by making use of Bob Weiland's wildness. The former American league southpaw was in such a liberal mood that he walked eight. The gratuities were so helpful that five of them developed into runs. Weiland, however, didn't last long enough to be credited with the decision. It went to Mike Ryba, who took a hand in the ninth after the first Cub batter had walked.

The Cubs had a real struggle on their hands for awhile in the second game, even though they were confronted by nothing more than a chain store variety of pitching. For five innings they provided Larry French with only a 2 to 1 lead. However, they adjusted matters in the sixth by taking pot shots at three different itinerants for a total of six runs, in which five hits, two passes and a few other items figured.

FIRST GAME

Weiland's wildness encouraged the Cubs to step out and furnish Lee with a one run lead in the opening inning of the first game. Herman drew free transportation after Hack had been thrown out by Bordagaray. Herman went to second on Demaree's roller and Hartnett was treated to an intentional pass. The thought was that Cavarretta, being weak against southpaws, would be an easy victim. Instead Cavarretta singled over short, Herman scoring. Stainback's poke to Bordagaray closed the inning.

Lee conducted a high class show for three innings during which there was only one hit but fell into a tie in the fourth as the result of a pass and a fluke hit. Mize walked with one out and the second out was registered on strikes served to Medwick. Padgett then hoisted a high fly close to the line in short left and it slipped off Galan's glove for a double, Mize scoring. Bordagaray fouled to Cavarretta for the third out.

Galan's Single Scores Two.

The first of two passes which started the Cubs toward a two run lead in the sixth, went to Demaree who was bunted to second by Hartnett. Cavarretta also walked. Stainback was thrown out by Bordagaray, but Galan came through with a single to left, Demaree and Cavarretta crossing the plate. Galan went to third on Jurges' single to right, but Lee tapped to Stu Martin.

Lee was bounced around considerably in the home sixth, but only one of his foes reached the plate. Mize and Medwick poked singles to right putting men on first and third with one out. A great stop back of second by Jurges resulted in a force of Medwick on Padgett's smash, Mize scoring. Bordagaray doubled to left center and a pass to J. Brown filled the

Guldahl Beats Revolta in Belmont Golf

Belmont, Mass., Sept. 26.—(AP)—The three most successful money seekers of the golfing season led the way into the semi-finals of the $12,000 Belmont open match play tournament today.

Each of the four 36 hole quarter-finals matches, which reduced the struggle for the $3,000 top prize to clashes between Open Champion Ralph Guldahl and Henry Picard, and Harry Cooper and Byron Nelson, was filled with sparkling golf, but only one of them was tight enough to be thrilling.

Guldahl, opening with a par 71 round against Johnny Revolta, his Ryder Cup teammate, found himself four down when Revolta set a new competitive record of 67 for the winding 6,517 yard course. Guldahl, however, rallied in the afternoon to gain a 2 and 1 victory.

Picard whipped Lawson Little, 6 and 4, the first defeat Little has suffered since 1935 and the third in his last forty-six matches.

Nelson overcame Charlie Lacey of Great Neck, N. Y., 6 and 4, and Cooper prevailed over his Chicago townsman, Dick Metz, 6 and 5, to become the 7 to 5 co-favorite with Guldahl.

Frisch Is Signed as Manager of Cardinals for '38

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 26.—(AP)—President Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals announced today the signing of Frankie Frisch as 1938 manager. Salary terms of the one year contract were not disclosed, but the amount was believed to be an increase over Frisch's 1937 contract. Announcement of the signing followed a short session between Breadon and the Cards' manager prior to the first game of a double-header with the Chicago Cubs.

Breadon said no other candidate had been considered for the job and voiced approval of Frisch's work this season. The Cardinal manager's only comment was that he was glad to continue working for the St. Louis National league club.

Simultaneously, Breadon announced that Dizzy Dean, his ace hurler, has been paid off for the balance of the season and will not accompany the club on the final trip to Pittsburgh and Chicago this week. Dean has been complaining of a sore arm and Breadon said "there is no need to have him with the team since he would not be able to pitch."

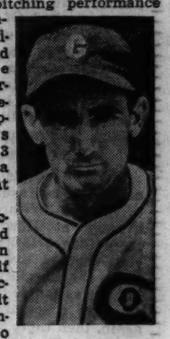
DEFEAT BROWNS ON ERRORS, 4-3; TAKE 2D, 4 TO 1

Kennedy Yields Only Four Hits.

The Browns' benevolence and a major league pitching performance by Vernon Kennedy revived visions of second place for the White Sox yesterday as they defeated the hapless St. Louis Browns, 4 to 3 and 4 to 1, in a double-header at Comiskey park.



Vern Kennedy.

The double victory advanced the Sox to within two and a half games of the second place Detroit Tigers and enabled them to maintain their four game lead over the fourth place Cleveland Indians, who come into town tomorrow for a five game showdown series. With a bit of a break here and there, it now is quite possible for the Sox to finish as runner-up to the Yankees, an honor they just about had despaired of in the last ten days.

Kennedy's four hit pitching in the second game compensated for the miserable showing in the first game in which Ted Lyons achieved his 12th victory of the season. The Sox made their four runs on one hit in this encounter, four of the Browns' five errors figuring in the scoring. They were able to get only five hits, all singles, off Harry Kimberlin, a rookie right-hander.

Carey Gets a Pair.

The Browns continued their helpfulness in the second game, making three errors, which led to as many runs, but the Sox were able to supplement Kennedy's superb pitching with a little more robust batting, nicking Lou Koupal for 13 hits.

Tom Carey got two of the four hits off Kennedy, doubling as the first man up in the first inning, and doubling again to drive in the Browns' only run in the ninth. The other two were singles by Silber, who beat out one to Conners in the seventh and another to the rookie third baseman in the ninth. Kennedy struck out four and walked only one in achieving his fourteenth triumph, but should give Luke Appling and Mike Kreevich at least a pleasant good evening for some sparkling support. They cut down four hits with sensational stops and catches.

FIRST GAME

Lyons survived the first inning of the first game despite a bit of wildness which gave Bell a base on balls after two were out, but fell behind in the second inning on a walk and a single. Clift drew a walk to open the inning and went to second while Hayes was throwing out Allen. Giulani then drove a single past third, scoring Clift. Lyons then struck out Barkley and Kimberlin.

The Sox took the lead without a hit in the third inning when the Browns, apparently suffering from chilblains, made three errors in less time than it takes to tell it. The spasm opened with a walk to Lyons. Hayes bounced to Clift, who threw wild to Barkley in an attempt to force Lyons.

Kreevich laid down a bunt and Giulani and Kimberlin fought each other for it. Kimberlin finally retrieved the ball and threw it into right field, Lyons scoring. Hayes raced for home and Kreevich set out for third. Hayes held up when Silber rifled the ball in from right field and he and Kreevich were trapped at third. The situation cleared up by itself when Silber's throw continued on over Catcher Giulani's head, permitting Hayes to score.

Visitors Fight Back.

The lead endured only long enough for three Browns to go to bat in the fourth inning. Sewell took Vosmik's high popup in front of the plate. Clift rifled a shot down the third base line and Conners rushed over to cover, but the ball hit the base, bounded over his head, and continued on to left field for a double. Allen singled to left, scoring Clift and tying the score at 2 to 2.

In the sixth successive singles by Silber, Bell, and Vosmik before any one was out scored Silber and put the Browns back in the lead, 3 to 2.

Philanthropy seized the Browns again in the seventh and when it was over the Sox were back in front, 4 to 3. Kreevich led off by walking and went to second on Walker's sacrifice. Radcliff sent a high hopper down the first base line and Bell attempted to field it with his chest, drawing an error. Kreevich advanced to third on the play. Appling then walked, filling the bases. Bonura lashed a single past Carey, scoring Kreevich and Radcliff.

SECOND GAME

The second game gave promise of being a very ordinary affair until the Browns went into burlesque again in

HAWTHORNE MAY TOP TRACKS FOR DAILY WAGERING

Home Stretch Figures to Decide Race.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Chicago race tracks are in the home stretch of what has been a highly profitable racing season. They've all made—not millions—but some money. As the Hawthorne meeting goes into its final week, quite a bit of excitement exists because there is a possibility that the average daily wagering there may be the highest of the year in Chicago.

So far the honor belongs to Arlington Park. However, the Hawthorne crowds have been wagering so enthusiastically that the returns from the last race may have to be tabulated late next Saturday afternoon to determine which of the two tracks has enjoyed the more liberal betting patronage.

There's quite a bit of friendly rivalry about it. For some five years horse racing in Chicago had been in the doldrums. Good programs were offered but the fans seldom grew greatly excited. Of course, they might have been short of money, but when the Arlington Park meeting opened this year offering the most valuable purses in America, the horse track crowd suddenly began to go to the races again. Its interest has not abated. It has continued to grow.

It's This Close.

The big crowds at Arlington Park created an average daily betting mark of $314,000. With six days to go, the average at Hawthorne is slightly more than $313,000. Hawthorne officials contend that the final week of their annual meeting is always the biggest as far as attendance and betting are concerned. If this is true again, then there is a good possibility of the daily betting average going beyond $315,000.

Both the Arlington and Hawthorne figures are healthy ones when compared to wagering of the previous five years. They are shockingly low, however, when compared to the betting that took place back in 1929.

Hawthorne staged two meetings that year. The first was a 19 day summer season. During the 19 days a total of $12,108,299 was wagered for a daily betting average of $637,278.90.

Then a Fall Season.

The second season ran for 20 days in the fall. Betting was not quite so brisk, but still for the entire 1929 season there was an average betting handle of $596,000 a day. That same year the average daily handle at Arlington Park for a 30 day meeting reached $700,000. Seven races made up the daily program then and there was no daily double.

Kelly, C.Y.O. Rider, Takes U.S. Bike Title

Earl Kelly of the Catholic Youth Organization of Chicago yesterday won the national senior road racing bicycle championship over the Humboldt park course.

Kelly won the half mile event and the 25 mile race and took fourth in the one mile event for a total of 11 points. Mickey Francoise of Newark, N. J., was second in the point standing with 8. Other point scorers: Robert Cass, Chicago, 5; Frank Sunderhoft, Newark, 5; Frank Devorski, Kenosha, 5; Carl Graetz, Buffalo, 4; Gerald Guttormsen, Kenosha, 3; Robert Nelson, Chicago, 2; Fred Graef, Newark, 1.

Dave Blumgart of Newark shaded Joseph Malinowski of Buffalo for the junior title, taking first in the half mile event and second in the mile race, which added to the points he scored in the Saturday preliminaries, gave him a total of 12 and one point margin over the Buffalo star.

Dolores Burle of Chicago had little trouble winning both events in the girls' division. Summaries:

BARBARA, LELLO MAY BOOST THEIR STOCK TONIGHT

Their Bouts Head Card at Marigold.

Johnny Barbara, 1936 Chicago Golden Gloves welterweight finalist, and Pete Lello, last year's Golden Gloves lightweight champion, tonight will receive an opportunity to improve their reputations in two bouts topping the show at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street.

Frankie Sagilio of Cicero opposes Barbara, who remains unbeaten in 15 professional appearances, and Harvey Woods of St. Paul faces Lello, who has scored 21 triumphs in 23 professional starts. Each contest is scheduled for eight rounds. In addition to these contests there will be another eight rounder between Al Manriquez of Sioux City, Ia., and Lloyd Pine, Akron, O., and a four rounder between Frankie Agnes and Johnny Helstrom, Chicago junior welterweight rivals.

Jim McMillen, one of the best heavyweight wrestlers in the business, returns to action tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, in a one hour bout against Rudy Kay. Pug Wilson, capable performer from Amarillo, Tex., encounters Al Williams of Fox Lake in the secondary feature at 30 minutes. In other engagements Frankie Talaber meets Johnny Silvy, Al Perry wrestles Angelo Martini, and Charley Peterson clashes with Tommy Mix.

Lem Franklin, Golden Gloves heavyweight product, will meet Max Zona of Chicago Heights in a six round supporting match to the ten round state title event between Champion Max Marek and Harry Thomas at Chicago Stadium Oct. 6. Franklin also has contracted for appearances at White City on Friday and Oct. 15. . . . Dick Daniels and Art Oliver are principals in the main bout at White City Friday.

MACCABEES BEAT PERU, 2 TO 1, IN SEASON OPENER

The Maccabees opened their season yesterday with a 2 to 1 victory over the American Nickeloids of Peru, Ill., in an Intercity Soccer league game at the Sparta stadium.

The Sparta Garden City and Schlitz Brewers of Milwaukee played a 1 to 1 tie at Milwaukee before 3,000. Tomik scored for Sparta and Trimmell evened it up in the last half minute with a corner kick.

The Swedish-Americans won from the champion Schwabens, 2 to 1, in the major amateur division. Other scores:

Bruce Takes Fort Sheridan Jumping Title

The champion's ribbon in the jumpers class went to Frank G. Reynolds' Bruce in the concluding events of the Fort Sheridan Horse show yesterday. The winner was ridden by Sergt. Michael Gaffney. Cognac, owned by the 14th cavalry and ridden by Corporal William Herman, took the reserve ribbon in this class.

Little Irish, owned and ridden by Maj. Paul Morris, took the title in the hunters division, while Miss Kay S. Goodman added to the laurels she gained the opening day of the show by taking down the reserve ribbon on her horse Mannequin.

The final day of the show, sponsored by the Fort Sheridan Horse Show association for the Army Relief society, was marred by two minor mishaps, Mrs. Louis F. Swift and Mrs. Edward H. Bennett being thrown from their mounts. Neither was injured.

MENDELSON WINS PRESIDENT'S CUP MOTORBOAT RACE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Herbert Mendelson's speed boat Notre Dame, driven by Cleil Perry of Detroit, today won the eleventh annual president's cup race, feature of the president's cup regatta on the Potomac river.

Alagi, the Italian boat driven by Count Theo Rossi, won the final 15 mile heat of the 45 mile race, with Notre Dame a half mile astern, but Notre Dame's first and second in the other heats, plus bonus points for elapsed time, gave the trophy to Mendelson's boat. It was the second triumph for Notre Dame, which won here in 1935.

Ariel Breaks 10 Mile Yacht Race Record

The Columbia Yacht club's newly inaugurated handicap series brought out 18 sailing yachts yesterday in a ten mile race off Grant park. Ariel, one of six racing division entries, was the winner both on actual and corrected time. It is owned and sailed by Robert Richheimer.

Ariel's elapsed time, 1 hour 36 minutes and 36 seconds, set a record for the course. Mary L., owned and sailed by William Alford, took second on corrected time. Ariel is an R class sloop, 38 feet overall, and Mary L. a 27 foot Tumlaren racing sloop. Third place went to Aloha, Kenneth Ball's 34 foot cutter, first of the cruising entries.

At the Chicago Yacht club, the Kimball-Railton R class sloop Nancy was first in its class. Clarence Clark's Eagle class sloop, Falcon, repeating its Saturday victory, defeated the S racers. Shimmer, with Leeds Mitchell Jr. at the tiller, also took its second and third straight Star class victory in two days as two Star events were held. The Richter-Dalseg syndicate Tumlaren, Friendship, won in its class. Summaries:

BREWERS BEAT RED BIRDS, 6 TO 5, IN PLAYOFF GAME

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Mickey Heath's first hit in five games, a drive over the right field wall in the eighth, enabled the Milwaukee Brewers to keep their flickering playoff hopes alive by nosing out the Columbus Red Birds here this afternoon, 6 to 5. The visitors lead the final series, three games to two, with the sixth contest scheduled for tomorrow afternoon.

The Birds got away to three runs in the first inning but the Brewers bounced back with three more in their half and the rest of the day Forest Pressnell had the edge on Pitchers Bill McGee and Nelson Potter. Potter was charged with the loss.

A Columbus victory tomorrow would end the playoff and the Birds would leave immediately for Newark to open the junior world's series there Wednesday. Score:

DICK TRACY—One Night Stand

White Sox Beat Browns Twice, 4 to 3 and 4 to 1

the third. The Sox combined four hits with the clowning and came out of the inning with a 2 to 0 lead. Rensa pulled one of Koupal's fast balls down the left field foul line for a double to start the rally. Kennedy attempted to sacrifice and popped to Hemsley, who had Rensa trapped off second, but threw into center field trying for a double play, Rensa reaching third.

Hayes lined to right and when Silber fell trying to go forward and backward at the same time it sailed over his head for a double, scoring Rensa. Kreevich singled to left, Hayes stopping at third, whence he scored when Walker also singled to left.

This Was a Surprise.

Meanwhile the Browns had indulged in another bit of buffoonery in the sixth and the Sox came out of the inning with one run on two hits and two errors. Radcliff led off with a single. Appling fouled to Bell, but Bonura lifted a little looper to Barkley and the young second baseman trapped the ball trying for a double play. His throw to second went into left field, Radcliff continuing to third, Conners forced Bonura, Radcliff scoring.

The Sox added another run, their fourth, in the seventh and it came under the heading of startling enterprise. It was the first they had scored all day without Brown help. Hayes singled to center and was forced by Kreevich, who stole second and scored on Radcliff's single to right. Radcliff attempted to go to second on the throw to the plate and was nipped, Silber to Hemsley to Carey, for the third out.

ALBERTI WINS 20 MILE FEATURE AT HAMMOND TRACK

Petri Alberti, Parisian auto pilot, won the 20 mile race at the Hammond speedway yesterday, feature event on a program which resulted in three drivers going to St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond.

Howard Whitmer of San Francisco was the most seriously injured. He lost control of his car on the south turn and went hurtling over the 10 foot embankment. It was disclosed at the hospital that he had a possible fracture of the left leg and left arm and a brain concussion. Dan Byrne and Windy Jennings, the other pilots taken to the hospital, were released after getting first aid for minor injuries.

Other mishaps occurred during the races, but only first aid was necessary. A crowd of 7,500 saw the races.

Summaries:

FIRST RACE [8 laps]—Won by Petri Alberti; Albert Booker, second; Les Duncan, third. Time, 4:29.

SECOND RACE [8 laps]—Won by Slim Rutherford; Fred Hawes, second; Charles Seczendy, third. Time, 4:32.

THIRD RACE [8 laps]—Won by Fred Hawes; Lou Nagley, second; Dan Byrne, third. Time, 4:55.

FOURTH RACE [8 laps]—Elimination. Won by Windy Jennings; Frank Wierer, second; Les Duncan, third.

FIFTH RACE [13 laps]—Consolation. Won by Ted Wright; Sam Scalata, second; Ray Smith, third. Time, 6:46.

SIXTH RACE [32 laps]—Main event. Won by Petri Alberti; Albert Booker, second; Slim Rutherford, third; Fred Hawes, fourth. Time, 18:45.

NIAGARA DEFEATS NOTRE DAME 'B' ELEVEN, 21 TO 0

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Niagara university romped over a Notre Dame B team, 21 to 0, today.

The winners took advantage of poor Irish kicking early in the first quarter and scored on two running plays. Full Back Bon Freeman carried the ball from the Irish 30 yard line to the 13, from where Joe Regan scored on an end run.

RESERVE BOARD BROADENS RULES TO SWELL LOANS

More Collateral Is Made Eligible.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 26.—(AP)—The federal reserve board broadened today its discount and loan rules to facilitate bank lending to finance increased business activity. The board revised its "regulation A" governing loans from the reserve system to member banks in accordance with the banking act of 1935, saying business improvement indicated the broader lending powers conferred by that act soon would be needed.

Although characterizing the revised rule as an "appropriate sequence" to the recent credit easing reduction of discount rates, officials said flatly the action had nothing to do with recent stock market disturbances.

Broader Collateral Base.

They explained the 1935 act opened up to all of the "good assets" of a bank the opportunity of being utilized as collateral for loans from the reserve system. Prior to 1932, when emergency exceptions were made, only the best commercial paper of not more than 90 days' maturity and the best agricultural paper of not more than nine months were eligible for discount at reserve banks.

The revised regulation and the 1935 act do two things: They expand the eligible list for discounts and create permanently a new type of reserve loan called "advances." The rate on advances is fixed by law at one-half of 1 per cent above the discount rate.

Add Commercial Paper.

The board added to the discount list large amounts of paper from commission houses and finance companies, including some paper drawn to finance commercial instalment sales. These and other eligible paper may be discounted by reserve banks at rates which they establish from time to time. Recently the New York district cut its discount rate to a world record low of 1 per cent. Most of the other eleven districts charge 1½ per cent.

Although all other "good assets" are acceptable collateral for "advances," the board put on the preferred list for this type of loan the following: Securities eligible for investment by national banks, loans on stocks made under federal reserve rules, mortgages insured by the Federal Housing administration, debentures and bonds of the Federal Home Loan banks and under the federal farm loan act, obligations of the states and their political subdivisions, and obligations drawn to finance real estate or instalment sale of goods.

The board said these preferences were intended to encourage "safer banking practices."

Corn Squeeze Is Unique in Market Annals

The price premium of approximately 40 cents a bushel which September corn brought over corn for delivery in October last week represented one of the biggest price differentials that has ever been quoted between different futures of the same grain in the Chicago market.

So great was the spread in prices between the September and October contracts that many commercial corn users sold out their entire inventories of the grain with the purpose of replacing their supplies a few days later at much lower prices.

Price Situation Unique.

A comparable price situation has not existed in the Chicago market for many years. It resulted entirely from the temporary demand for corn to deliver against September contracts.

The available supplies of corn represented only a small part of the amount needed to fill September contracts. This year's corn crop is the biggest in several years but the harvest does not come early enough to make grain available in quantity in September. Supplies remaining from last year's short harvest are negligible.

Both the long and short interests charged each other with manipulative practices in connection with the September corn future. The shorts maintained that the Cargill Grain company, the principal owner of September corn contracts, had bought up most of the available supply of corn so that it was virtually impossible to obtain grain to make delivery.

Charge Shorts Failed to Act.

The Cargill interests retorted that the shorts had been given every opportunity to buy in their pledges at reasonable prices but had failed to do so. The exchange has indicated it may take disciplinary action against those involved in the deadlock.

Wheat.

	High.	Low.	Close Sep.25.	Close Sept.18.

EVEN EXPERTS BEWILDERED BY STOCK DECLINE

7 Billions Lopped Off Values in Month.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 26.—[Special.]—Wall street is completely bewildered by last week's stock break which carried prices to the lowest levels in two years. Brokers are as much in the dark as to the reasons for the startling decline as are experienced market observers and analysts. It has been estimated that since the middle of August, when the selling drive started, approximately 7 billion dollars have been sheared from market values.

Indicative of the state of mind in the financial district was the order by the stock exchange for an investigation into all transactions in United States Steel common for the period Sept. 7 to Sept. 25 inclusive. All member firms have been sent a questionnaire asking for data on all trades in the issue.

U. S. Steel Singled Out.

The exchange said "Steel" had been singled out because it has been the pacemaker in the decline and was looked upon as the most logical stock to select in an attempt to discover what has been the general character of buying and selling in the market during the collapse.

For the week as a whole the market, as measured by the Dow-Jones averages, closed with a net loss of 14.69 points in the industrial section. Carrier issues declined 3.79 points and utilities dropped 2.28. Motors, coppers, mail orders, farm implements, rail equipments, oils, aviations, rubbers, electrical equipments all suffered.

Several Sharp Losses Shown.

Westinghouse Electric lost 15¼ points during the six days of trading. Other sizable losses were 10⅛ points in United States Steel, 7⅜ in Chrysler, 12⅝ in J. I. Case, 12 in Deere, 7 in American Smelting, 8⅜ in Bethlehem, 8½ in Douglas Aviation, 5½ in Atchison, 5 in Standard Oil of New Jersey, 6¼ in Sears-Roebuck, 13⅛ in Coca Cola, 4⅜ in New York Central, and 5⅞ in Anaconda.

On the total volume of 8,109,960 shares four issues rose to new high levels for the year, but 743 issues dropped into new low ground for the period or longer.

Observers said the drop in stocks was far more drastic than the decline in business warranted. Many observers blamed politics for the decline. It was pointed out that business men and traders are unwilling to buy stocks in view of the many regulations that have been imposed on the stock market, the determination of the President to go ahead with his court packing plan, the large national debt, threats of new taxes and new restrictions on business, and the indifferent attitude of the administration toward the unbalanced budget.

Output of Steel Industry Scaled Down to Meet Orders

Steel ingot production last week was scaled downward by most mills to a point nearer the volume of incoming business, the magazine Steel reported yesterday. Operations for the week were estimated at 76 per cent of capacity, a decline of 4 points from the preceding week.

"Although the rate of buying increased from the low point of midsummer, it has not grown sufficiently to match shipments, and some curtailment of production is necessary to meet current conditions," the trade journal said.

Buying of heavy steel last week was distributed among several lines of activity, Steel said. Los Angeles ordered 11,050 tons of plates for a water line, the Denver and Rio Grande railroad awarded 13,400 tons of rails, and the New York Central placed orders for about 10,000 tons of plates and shapes for car building and repair.

Steel scrap prices declined $2 at Pittsburgh last week, while Chicago prices were nominally $1 lower. Steel's composite scrap prices declined $1.25 to $17.83 a ton.

To Holders of

The New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Company

First Mortgage 4% Bonds due October 1, 1937

The New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Company, successor by consolidation in ownership of the properties previously owned by its constituent company of the same name, has offered to holders of the above bonds the opportunity to extend the maturity thereof to October 1, 1947 with interest at the rate of 3½% per annum. Holders of bonds accepting the offer will be paid, at the time of the issuance of a Receipt of The New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Company evidencing the deposit thereof, interest due October 1, 1937 (although such deposit may be prior to the due date of such interest). For the further terms and conditions of extension you are referred to a letter dated September 17, 1937, addressed by The New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Company to the holders of the bonds, to which is annexed a form of Extension Agreement to be dated as of October 1, 1937, which The New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Company will execute and deliver to holders of bonds who accept the offer of extension.

Since the offer of extension provides for the deposit of bonds with Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Agent, Corporate Trust Department, 140 Broadway, New York, N. Y., on or before October 1, 1937 for extension, holders of bonds who have not received a copy of the above-mentioned letter should procure the same without delay. Copies are available at said office of Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Agent, or at the office of the undersigned, Terminal Tower, Cleveland, Ohio.

UNCERTAINTIES SHROUD OUTLOOK FOR BUSINESS

Conflicting influences shroud the business outlook over the next few months, the Guaranty Trust company said yesterday in its current monthly survey of economic conditions. Business trends now are irregular and recent reports support the view that activity is lagging behind normal seasonal expectations, the survey said. One of the outstanding business developments of the year, however, is the actual and prospective purchasing power of the farm population.

Uncertainty over business prospects, reflected in lower security and commodity prices, is due in part to fears in some quarters of a "cyclical downturn" in business in coming months, the survey continued. The political situation abroad also was blamed for part of the unsettlement.

The review also pointed out that the present spirit of conservatism in business can be attributed to failure of domestic trade and industry to expand seasonally. Activity in some lines, it said, has shown a tendency to decline rather than increase.

Fish Charges Trade Treaties Are Unemployment Cause

Washington, D. C., Sept. 26.—[Special.]—Representative Hamilton Fish of New York, ranking Republican member of the house committee on foreign affairs, issued a statement today branding the reciprocal trade agreements negotiated by Secretary of State Hull as "destructive to the best interests of the American farmer and working man and one of the main causes of continued unemployment in the United States.

City Stores.

Investors' Guide: I should appreciate full information on City Stores selling on the New York Stock exchange.—M. S.

Answer: The City Stores company is a holding company which owns and operates five large department stores in Philadelphia, New Orleans, Memphis, Louisville, and Birmingham. It also has subsidiaries owning property in which several of the stores operate.

Under the stimulus of increased consumer purchasing power, business of the company improved materially during 1935 and 1936. Results for 1937 cannot be forecast with any degree of accuracy because department stores normally make most of their year's profits during the heavy buying season in November and December.

In the six months ended July 31 net income was $69,000 or 6 cents a common share, compared with $87,000 or 7 cents a share in the corresponding 1936 period. Loss was $27,000 in the three months ended July 31, compared with loss of $8,000 in the corresponding months in 1936. The record of recent fiscal years ended Jan. 31 follows:

	Sales.	Net income.	Income per shr.
1937	$38,436,000	$ 617,000	$ .51
1936	33,558,000	303,000	.25
1935	33,088,000	*534,000	*.69
1934	29,525,000	*751,000	*.89
1933	29,517,000	*1,913,000	*1.95
1932	35,637,000	*2,527,000	*2.65
1931	46,991,000	476,000	.18
1930	51,695,000	1,538,000	1.15

*Loss.

Per share figures for the 1936 and 1937 fiscal years are not strictly comparable with those for preceding years because of a recapitalization which reduced funded debt and eliminated preferred stock and dividend arrears. The number of common shares is about the same as before.

Aside from $15,691,000 funded debt [including $9,191,000 of subsidiary real estate mortgages] outstanding capitalization consists solely of 1,209,000 shares of $5 par common stock.

Dividends on the present common are cumulative at the rate of 6 per cent a year, but nothing has been paid. No common dividends have been paid since 1930. The last payment on the old preferred was made in 1931.

Store reconditioning and other property expenditures exceeded earnings in 1936, but financial condition continued satisfactory. Current assets were $14,224,000 and current liabilities were $4,963,000 on Jan. 31, 1937.

The stock should be considered highly speculative at present.

AMER. SMELTING PROFIT HIGHER FOR HALF YEAR

American Smelting and Refining company yesterday reported net income, after charges and taxes, of $9,624,997 for the six months ended June 30, against net income of $7,807,528 in the first half of last year.

Profit this year is equivalent, after allowance for preferred dividends, to $3.38 a share on 2,191,669 common shares, compared with $3.01 a share on the 1,829,940 common shares outtanding a year ago.

On the basis of the present capitalization, earnings for the 1936 period were equivalent to $2.51 a share.

Despite increases in August railway revenues net railway operating income of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroads declined for the month. The profit reductions were due largely to higher expenses.

The Burlington reported gross of $9,012,749, compared with $8,659,037 in August last year, and operating net of $1,014,088, compared with $1,378,009. The Atchison's August gross was $14,637,139, against $13,808,750, while operating net fell to $839,123, from $2,061,998 last year.

Steady Upturn Reported in Farm Loan Payments

Washington, D. C., Sept. 26.—(AP)—W. I. Myers, governor of the Farm Credit administration, said today there has been a steady upward trend in farmers' payments of interest and principal on mortgage indebtedness. Farmers paid $39,213,091 in regular principal instalments and special payments on federal land bank loans during the last twelve months, which was 83.2 per cent of the principal that ordinarily would have matured, he said. Such payments in the preceding twelve months amounted to $28,875,033.

Financing Plan Abandoned by Phillips Petroleum

New York, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Phillips Petroleum company today announced it has abandoned plans for a new stock issue owing to "unfavorable market conditions. A month ago the company said it proposed to file a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange commission covering an offer to stockholders of 444,905 new shares of common capital stock.

News of The Tribune Experimental Farm

By Frank Ridgway

Good Silage Year.

Sept. 26, 1937.

HYBRID No. 667 used in filling the silos at the Wheaton farm this year has produced the highest tonnage of any silage corn ever raised on the place. The farm manager estimates that on the richest spots this strain of corn produced as much as 14 tons per acre. On some places in the fields the yield was less than this due to the variation in the fertility of the soil.

Due to the heavy yield the farm now has a surplus of Hybrid No. 667, valued chiefly as a silage crop because it requires at least 125 days to mature fully ripened ears of corn dry enough to keep over winter when stored in a crib. The manager is hopeful, however, that the corn left in the field after the workers completed filling the silos yesterday will mature enough to be cut, cured in shocks, and then chopped up in the ensilage cutter and fed to the sheep this winter.

Big Stalks Produced.

This season has been unusually favorable for the growth of corn. Hybrid No. 667 produced tall, big stalks with an abundance of leaves, and good ears well filled and dented sufficiently for silage. Some stalks had two and three ears—one good ear and one or two extra smaller ears. Few of the ears are expected to mature sufficiently for storage even if the first killing frost is late, so that most of the crop still standing in the field will spoil unless it develops to the point that it can be cut and cured in the shock.

A mechanical bundle loader was found particularly valuable this year because the corn bundles were extremely heavy. It kept two men busy piling the bundles on the wagon, as a constant stream of them poured from the loader that elevated the corn several feet above the level of the wagon frame.

Farm Work Traded.

Like many other Du Page county farmers that were faced with a labor problem this season, the manager traded work with his neighbors, making it possible to operate with a full force of eight men—four drivers on the four bundle wagons, two bundle loaders, one operating the tractor used in drawing the corn binder and bundle loader, and one operating the tractor and ensilage cutter used in blowing the silage into the silo.

Workers are anxious for the rest of the silage corn to ripen soon so that it can be removed and rye sown on the fields. Wheat will be sown if the corn matures too late for the rye to be planted. Rye is preferred because the crop can be used on the farm; the rye would be fed to live stock and the straw used for bedding.

Everyday Economics

Inflation and Deflation.

What is inflation? Many definitions exist, but one on which most experts agree is: "The placing in circulation of more money—in the form of either bank deposits or currency—at a rate faster than the increase in trade requirements."

Large purchases of government bonds by banks in the last few years have created millions in additional bank deposits. When a bank buys a government bond the government either keeps on deposit with the bank the funds it receives from the bonds or spends them. In the latter event the money eventually finds its way back to the banks and results in increased deposits.

Deflation is the reverse of inflation. It means the contraction of the amount of currency and bank deposits outstanding at a rate faster than the decline in actual trade requirements for credit or money.

In a period of deflation the banks liquidate their investments—that is, they call loans or do not renew them when they mature, and they sell investments.

Tomorrow: Inflation and Deflation—2.

Help to Stop this Needless Slaughter

OVER 3300 SCHOOL CHILDREN KILLED BY AUTOS IN YEAR
THOUSANDS INJURED

THIS Colorful Poster WILL BE SENT FREE UPON REQUEST

SCHOOL HAS BEGUN
Accident Hazards Increase
DRIVE CAREFULLY

For the past two months of summer vacation time, little thought has been given to cautious driving near schools but now, school has begun and again you are warned to "Look out for Kids". Keep a sharp lookout especially for the smaller tots who may unthinkingly dart out from between cars or dash across the street in front of you. Heed the signs "School Slow" and reduce your speed -- give the kids a break -- you do not want to hurt one!

Help to stop the needless slaughter of school children by careful driving. Remind your friends, neighbors and associates to do the same. Don't take the attitude that it's always the other fellow's kid that gets hurt. Someday it may be your child -- then you'll drive carefully.

Each year at the opening of school, EMPLOYERS MUTUAL distributes thousands of these posters as part of an intensive Accident Prevention Program. The poster is 17x22 in. in size and is printed in 3 colors. You may obtain a copy by addressing the EMPLOYERS MUTUAL office given below. All we ask is that you hang the poster in a conspicuous place where it may serve its purpose.

Kidnapers of Wealthy Manufacturer Silent as Ransom Demand Is Awaited—Propose New 'L' Highway Plan

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

VICTIM OF KIDNAPING—Charles S. Ross, 72, wealthy retired greeting card manufacturer, kidnaped Saturday night while driving with former secretary. A ransom demand was awaited in vain last night.

SEES ABDUCTION—Miss Florence Freihage, 44, who was returning with Ross from Sycamore when he was seized, as she told her story yesterday to state's attorney's investigators. (Story on page 1.)

A FAIR RIDER DISMOUNTS THE HARD WAY—This was the embarrassing position in which Mrs. Edward H. Bennett of Lake Forest was found yesterday after she was thrown from her horse Gatineau at the Fort Sheridan Horse show. It happened in the ladies' hunter class, on closing day's program of show for benefit of the Army Relief society. (Story on page 18.) [TRIBUNE Photo.]

SCENE OF KIDNAPING BY MYSTERY GANG—Looking south on Wolf road between Grand and North avenues, where abduction occurred. Ross was driving north. Clews are lacking to identity of men who forced him into their car and drove off, after threatening his companion. Soon afterward Miss Freihage notified police. (Story on page 1.)

GIANT NEW ARMY BOMBING PLANE PREPARED FOR FIRST TESTS—The XB-15, experimental model built by the Boeing Aircraft company, at the company's Seattle airport where it will be given engine tests preparatory to its first test flight. This huge plane, the biggest ever built for the army, is nearly a third larger than the China Clippers. It will cruise about 6,000 miles, with a top speed of about 250 miles an hour, and will carry a military load of some four tons. Complete living quarters are provided aboard for the crew. (Story on page 5.)

NEAR TRAGEDY ON THE SPEEDWAY—Van Meter of Northbrook being pulled from overturned racing auto yesterday at Hammond, Ind., speedway after the machine hurtled over ten foot bank on the south curve during time trial. He escaped with bruises. Five other cars went over the bank, but only one driver was seriously injured. (Story on page 19.) [TRIBUNE Photo.]

NEW PLAN FOR ELEVATED HIGHWAYS PROPOSED BY CHICAGO MOTOR CLUB—Routes of 38.1 miles of elevated thoroughfares, extending in five directions from the heart of the city, urged yesterday to save lives and money. The roads would branch out from an elevated highway belt line around the central business district. Total cost of the project was put at an average of $1,000,000 a mile. Construction would require from three to five years. Motor club officials said the cost could be financed from the revenue of existing taxes upon motorists. (Story on page 1.)
